Merchant Vessels Must Show Papers, Committee Says

WON'T BE SEARCHED

Action Intended to Prevent Other Ships From Masquerading

By the Associated Press
Merchant ships flying the United States flag will be forced to submit to examination in Spanish waters, officials of the neutrality committee disclosed today.

American ships will have to prove their papers are in order but they will not be searched. The inspection will guard against ships of other nations masquerading under the Stars and Stripes to slip past the international blockade with contraband cargoes.

The blockade, to enforce the "hand off Spain" committee's embargo against further foreign arms and men has been ordered to start at midnight of next Monday, April 19. It will be composed of British, French, German and Italian war vessels.

Merchant shipping destined for Spanish ports under flags of the 27 nations on the committee will be subjected to rigid controls. Rules for United States shipping will apply to all non-member nations.

Push Against Bilbao

The civil war front shifted back to the bay of Biscay where insurgent forces under General Emilio Mola moved up for a supreme push against the autonomous Basque province.

The attacking army regained the heights of Mount Salbi in a rout of government forces whose losses in a panic-stricken retreat were estimated at from 700 to 1,000 of an army of 5,000.

Possession of the mountain peak in the barrier range south of Bilbao gave the insurgent consolidated positions only five miles from the gateway city on the Basque plains. Durango, itself only 16 miles south east of Bilbao.

At Madrid, government artillery repelled two desperate insurgent attempts to repair the Mazaneres river bridge which links the Casa de Campo park, on Madrid's west side, with 8,000 isolated insurgents in University City.

Extensive Activity

Government aviation communications reported far-flung activity, disrupting insurgent troops moving south toward Madrid from the northwest, and from the northeast at Jadraque. Both forays were said to have caused heavy damage to rails, coaches and equipment of railroads in insurgent possession.

Other fronts:

North—More than a score were injured when red-and-yellow insurgent planes bombed Culera, just below the French border on the Mediterranean.

South—Insurgents reported a decisive defeat of government troops west of the Penarroya coal mines in fighting for control of the Sierra LaGrana range on the Cordoba front.

The Madrid government, reporting the battle a victory, said its forces occupied the heights above Penarroya and completely dominating the Sierra La Grana range, encircled the insurgent-held city of Eucotevejuna.

Racine Man's Appeal Before Federal Court

Chicago—(P)—The United States circuit court of appeals took under advisement yesterday the appeal of L. C. Christensen, Racine, Wis., real estate broker, from his conviction in the Milwaukee federal district court on a charge of attempted bribery.

Christensen was represented at the hearing here by Attorneys John Elliott Byrne, Chicago, and Walter Bender, Milwaukee. Assistant United States District Attorney L. Hugo Keller of Milwaukee represented the government.

Convicted Feb. 18, Christensen was sentenced by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger to six months in the house of correction. He was found guilty of attempting to defraud the Home Owners' Loan corporation, by deleting a lien in an abstract on a piece of property for which he sought a loan.

Cooking School Teacher Will Work in Complete Kitchen Built on Stage

Climaxing the programs of lectures and demonstrations on home-making by Mrs. Bertha Harris, the elaborate style and fur show and musical interlude at the sixteenth annual Post-Crescent cooking school next week at the Rio theater will be the daily awarding of a magnificent outlay of gifts to women who attend the school.

Over 150 gifts will be distributed during the four days of the cooking school, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, the estimated value of the collection being between $700 and $800. Among the gifts will be a new 1937 Kelvinator electric refrigerator, a handsome Speed Queen electric washing machine, a modern Aetna radio and a choice of either a Universal or a Detroit gas range.

When the curtain parts for the opening session of the cooking school next Tuesday morning at the Rio theater, the huge audience will

Building Trades Group to Declare Workers' Holiday

Construction Jobs to Stop Monday to Enforce 'Closed Shop'

Steps to force building contractors to sign "closed shop" agreements will be taken by the Appleton Building Trades council which has declared a holiday for all union workmen affiliated with the council starting at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

As the majority of building contractors have already signed agreements, no trouble is expected, officials of the council said. The holiday was agreed upon at a regular meeting of the council at the Trades and Labor hall last night.

No jobs will be allowed to continue working until contractors sign, officials said. Non-union competition is forcing union operators to "violate state laws in order to get work and the code of fair competition is not being enforced, it was brought out at the meeting.

500 Workers Involved

The holiday will involve about 500 union workmen on the various building trades crafts including carpenters, electricians, masons, plumbers, steamfitters, laborers, engineers, truck drivers and sheet metal workers.

All members of building trades crafts will be given union buttons to show they belong to organized labor and are affiliated with the local organization. Members of the council will meet at the Trades and Labor hall at 7 o'clock Monday morning and visits will be made to various construction jobs to see that they are closed down.

"Closed shop" agreements and appointment of a city building inspector were discussed by the council with a committee of contractors. The common council may be asked to appoint a building inspector and adopt an ordinance to insure standard trade practices.

House Favors Ban On Trading Stamps

Passes Bill Prohibiting Badger Stores to Give Away Stamps

Madison—The assembly today passed a bill forbidding Wisconsin stores to give away trading stamps on articles which sell for a price agreed upon by the manufacturer and the merchant.

The measure affects nearly all nationally advertised and trade marked goods, which come under the state fair trade practice law.

The bill was approved on a 61 to 14 vote and was sent to the senate under suspension of the rules.

The author, Assemblyman Cornelius Young (D.), Milwaukee, said that large department stores are discriminating against independent merchants by granting a rebate in the form of stamps on standard priced merchandise and by using the stamp appeal in their advertising.

Assemblymen Milton T. Murray (R), Milwaukee, contended that under the fair trade practice law a manufacturer is permitted to give the merchant a discount and that the principal effect of Young's bill would be to deny the same privilege to consumers.

He said stores will continue to give stamps on goods for which prices are not fixed and that clerks would have a difficult time observing the law.

The measure had the support of Speaker Paul Alfonsi (P), of Pence, who sponsored the fair trade law two years ago, and Assemblyman Herbert Schenk, a Madison merchant. Schenk charged the stamp business is a "racket." He said most merchants would be glad to be rid of it.

Three Wisconsin Men Guilty Under Lacy Act

Marquette, Mich.—(P)—Three Wisconsin men were convicted by a federal court jury late yesterday on charges of conspiracy to violate the Lacy act, prohibiting the transportation across state lines of illegally trapped furs.

The jury, 30 minutes after receiving the case, convicted Louis Gorwitz and his brother, Simon, of Oshkosh, and Sidney Etzwin, of Wausau.

Sentences will be passed next week by Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond of Grand Rapids.

Head of Coal Firm Admits Violating Law

Tells LaFollette Group He'll Abandon 'Yellow Dog Contract'

FORCED SIGNATURES

Many Officers in Kentucky County Had Criminal Records, Report

Washington—(P)—The manager of one of the largest coal companies in Harlan county, Ky., informed senate investigators today he had been violating the national labor relations act ever since its passage.

The official, Pearl Basham, of the Harlan-Wallins Coal company, testifying before the LaFollette civil liberties committee, added, however, he intended now to abandon use of what he called the "yellow dog contract," as a result of the supreme court's recent decisions upholding the act.

Ever since the company started operation, he said, it had required its employees to sign such contracts, pledging themselves not to join any union or attempt to bargain collectively.

The Wagner act guarantees to workers the right of collective bargaining.

Basham agreed with committee Chairman LaFollette (P-Wis.) that the "yellow dog contracts" were in violation of the labor relations act, which was passed more than a year ago.

Issued Scrip

The slightly bald coal operator testified he paid about 20 per cent of his pay roll in "company scrip," redeemable at face value only at "company stores" and a few other shops.

His wife owns a quarter-interest in such a store, he added, and receives annual dividends of 170 per cent on her investment.

"That's a pretty good return," he conceded in response to LaFollette's questioning.

Earlier the senate investigators received evidence that Sheriff Theodore Middleton of Harlan county had made a similar profit from his investment in a "company store."

The committee also received evidence that the high sheriff of the county had appointed a long list of

Farmer Arrested on Kidnaping Warrant

Madison—(P)—George Dickson, 25, Green county farmer, was held in the Dane county jail today on a kidnaping warrant obtained by the stepfather of a 16-year-old girl who was found at the home of Dickson's mother.

Undersheriff Joseph Shaughnessy said the girl, last Friday accompanied Dickson from the Vern Johnson farm in Dane county, was returned to her mother at South Wayne, Wis.

The girl, Shaughnessy said, denied Dickson had forced her to accompany him. Dickson, the officer said, declared he "thinks quite a bit of the girl" and "wanted her to get somewhere in the world."

He quoted Dickson as saying he intended the girl should live with his mother, complete high school studies, and become a nurse. Meanwhile, he said, he had planned to apply for admission to the naval air force.

Farmers Opposed to State Oleo Tax Probe

Madison—(P)—Farm spokesmen told the assembly agriculture committee yesterday that the proposal to investigate the effect of the state oleomargarine tax on interstate trade would "open an old sore" and create unfavorable publicity for Wisconsin's dairy industry.

They opposed a joint resolution by Assemblyman Robert E. Tehan (D), Milwaukee, asking creation of a legislative committee to make an inquiry.

"Wisconsin is charged with isolating itself from free trade between states," Tehan said. "The tax builds a high barrier around all our industrial products because one product needs protection. All I ask is a complete investigation of these charges. Repeal of the tax law is not my intention."

37 Vessels Held in Vast Ice Field; Other Boats Warned to Delay Voyages

Duluth, Minn.—(P)—The ore-laden freighters, Frontenac and Peter White, locked in the ice field outside of the Superior entry since their departure shortly after midnight broke through the pack early this afternoon, the United States coast guard station said. They are bound for lower lake ports.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—(P)—A terse wireless message from the captain of the Pittsburgh Steamship company's fleet, "do not send any other boats up until we get this fleet through" held inter-lake navigation at a standstill here today.

Fifty-seven vessels, attempting to reach Lake Superior, were fast off Whitefish point in a vast field of ice that extended beyond vision into the lake.

A fog that descended at 5 a. m. hid the freighters from the coast guard station at Whitefish point. The latest observation indicated the ships had not moved during the night. Forty vessels were visible then.

The 28 leaders were at Vermilion point, 10 miles west of Whitefish point. The others were in the lee of Whitefish point. They had not moved more than half a mile since yesterday morning when a 15-mile-an-hour northwest wind piled heavily windrowed ice into Whitefish bay. The ice was 10 feet thick in some places.

A south or southeast wind was needed to clear away the ice. The message to hold all vessels in the harbor here came from Captain W. P. McElroy, who is aboard the Pittsburgh freighter Zenith City, far out in the ice pack.

Twenty-six ships, which locked through here within the last 24 hours, dropped anchor to wait for better ice conditions.

Predict End of Strike Monday At Auto Plants

Canadian Workers to be Asked to Return Pending Agreement

MEETING IS PLANNED

Four Primary Requests to Be Laid Before Motors Concern

BULLETIN

Oshawa, Ont.—(P)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, announced late today that an agreement to settle the Canadian General Motors strike of 3,700 workers had been reached yesterday in Detroit.

Oshawa, Ont.—(P)—The Canadian Press said today it had learned on good authority that automobile union officials, conferring here on the strike of 3,700 General Motors of Canada workers, would advise the men to return to work Monday pending an agreement with the company.

Senate Struggle Predicted Over Anti-Lynch Bill

Measure First of Kind to Win House O. K. In 15 Years

BORAH RAPS PLAN

Southern Senators Expected to Lead Attack on Bill

Washington—(P)—Congressional leaders predicted today the first anti-lynching bill to pass the house in 15 years would encounter greater opposition in the senate.

Filibusters have killed every previous attempt to win senate approval of such legislation.

Even as the house adopted the Gavanan bill late yesterday 277 to 119, Senator Borah (R-Idaho) criticized what he called an effort to "force through congress an unjust, unconstitutional and, in my opinion, an immoral measure."

Southern senators were preparing to oppose the measure, forecasting warm sectional debate, similar to that which punctuated argument in the house.

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that although the legislation would not stop lynching, "it will check lynching and encourage respect for the law."

The Gavanan bill provides that an officer who permits a prisoner to escape his custody and be injured or put to death by a mob would be subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 and a maximum prison term of from 5 to 25 years.

Lynch on Counties
Participants in mob violence would be subject to similar prison terms, and the county in which a prisoner is seized or put to death would have to pay his family damages ranging from $2,000 to $5,000.

Representatives Sumners (D-Texas), Rankin (D-Miss) and Cox (D-Ga.) led the southern opponents in contending the bill was directed at states which for years have been trying to cope with the problem of mob violence.

At one point they succeeded in defeating the section compelling counties to pay damages to a victim's family, but it was reinstated later.

Citing figures which he said showed lynchings had declined 5,000 per cent since 1892, Sumners, house judiciary committee chairman, asked:

"Why don't you let us alone and give us a chance to show what we can do about this situation?"

Rankin contended the bill was intended to "make Harlem safe for Tammany." Representatives Hoffman (R-Mich.), one of the few Republican opponents, charged the Democratic party in New York hoped to win more Negro votes.

Tennessee Slayer Is Sent to Electric Chair

Nashville, Tenn.—(P)—Sallow-faced Roy Wilburn Eatmon, 24, died calmly in Tennessee's electric chair at dawn today while his wife and year-old baby waited outside the death house to take his body back to their farm home near Osceola, Ark.

The frail but composed youth was executed for killing a Memphis filling station operator during an attempted holdup.

Eatmon, after several hours of praying and scripture reading, stepped to the chair without a word. He was the first white man convicted in Shelby county (Memphis) to die in the chair since capital punishment by this method was adopted in Tennessee in 1919.

Youth Is Acquitted of Manslaughter Charges

Merrill, Wis.—(P)—Willard Jahnsman, 21, Maine township farm youth, was acquitted last night by a Lincoln county jury of first degree manslaughter charges in connection with an automobile accident July 1, 1935, in which three persons were killed.

The mishap occurred about 12 miles south of here. Marshall Schaefer, Wausau, driver of the car, was killed. His wife and two children, William Marquardt, were killed.

Roosevelt Letter Cheers Sick Son Of Senator Duffy

Washington—(P)—James Duffy, 16-year-old son of Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin, was sick today. But he was proud and happy because he received a personal letter from President Roosevelt.

The president, learning of Jimmy's leg infection, wrote him a cheery letter saying:

"Perhaps you already know that my boy, Franklin, had the same trouble but in a different spot. The treatment that cured him is the one they are using for you.

"Keep a stiff upper lip and I will be pulling for you. Tell your dad, who is a great friend of mine, to be sure and let me know just as soon as you get straightened out and leave the hospital. You want to make it as fast as you can because the baseball season is opening up."

Mr. Roosevelt himself signed the missive, written on his personal White House stationery.

THREATENS ACTRESS

John A. Buzas (above), alias John Berton, 18-year-old Chicago garage mechanic, was held under $3,500 bond in Chicago after federal agents said he admitted writing a letter to Ginger Rogers, screen actress, demanding $500 under threat of death.

Vandenbush and Brunette Named In Indictments

U. S. Grand Jury Action at Madison May Prevent Paroles

Madison—(P)—United States District Attorney John J. Boyle announced today that Merle Vandenbush, 36, and Harry Brunette, 28, both of Green Bay, who are serving long terms in prison, were among persons indicted by the federal grand jury this week.

They were named in true bills charging complicity in the $8,500 robbery of the Citizens Bank of Monroeville Nov. 17, 1936.

Brunette is serving a life sentence at Alcatraz federal prison for kidnapping a New Jersey state trooper. Vandenbush was committed to New York state prison for 45 to 70 years for the holdup of a bank at Katonah, N. Y., in which about $17,000 was seized. He also was indicted on the kidnapping charge.

The pair probably never will come to trial in Wisconsin, Boyle said, but the grand jury's act may prevent them from obtaining parole. Boyle said other indictments included:

Walter H. Michaels and Donald M. Thompson, Milwaukee, charged with possession of a 1200-gallon still, valued at $8,600, in Dunn county.

Joseph Raboin and Everett Meisner, St. Paul, charged with possession of a 300-gallon still in the town of Somerset, St. Croix county.

Albert Sharlow, Lac du Flambeau, charged with attempted rape of a 14-year-old Indian girl on an Indian reservation.

Joseph Herman Debus, Macon, Ga. charged with transporting a man from Marshfield, Wis., to Ludington, Mich., for immoral purposes.

U. S. Warrant Is Issued In Ohio Bank Holdups

Cleveland—(P)—Assistant United States Attorney Everett L. Foote issued a warrant today charging J. B. Goodman, a former convict, with the robbery of four banks in northern Ohio. Goodman is held in Madison, Wis., on a robbery charge.

The warrant charged Goodman with the robbery of the North Akron Savings and Loan Co. at Akron and banks at Western, Huron and Alger.

Foote said Goodman was arrested through the detective work of Police Chief S. C. West of Kent, Ohio, who made the arrest after two of his men in the four banks were killed.

When a car stolen in Kent was found abandoned in Wisconsin, West sent descriptions of the two men to Wisconsin police. Police arrested Goodman when his automobile was wrecked at Janesville, Wis., on the basis of the description. The other man is sought.

Settlement Reached In Strike at Oshkosh

Oshkosh—(P)—The strike of union workers at the Badger Lumber and Manufacturing Co., called a week ago, ended today. Between 150 and 200 men returned in the walk-out.

Terms of the settlement were not announced. At the strike's start, strikers' spokesmen said they wanted the furniture workers' local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, and joiners recognized as their collective bargaining agent, and the reinstatement of five discharged employees.

Later, union officials denied recognition was an issue. Some of the strikers returned to their jobs today. Company officials said the others would return Monday, when full production would be resumed.

Ashland Man Drowns in Fall From Grain Ship

Chicago—(P)—Raymond Ashbach, 31, of Ashland, Wis., fell from the grain ship Harvester last night and drowned in the Calumet river. He was a porter on the vessel.

Coastguardsmen recovered the body 20 minutes later. They were told Ashbach was descending a ladder from the ship to visit friends on the Sweden, a ship moored nearby, when he fell.

Construction of New High School Is Well Underway

Expect to Start Steel Work On Gymnasium Unit Next Week

With more than 40 men at work daily, construction work on the new senior high school is progressing rapidly. Pouring of concrete footings for the gymnasium was completed this week, according to officials of Maurice Schumacher, Construction Company, Minneapolis, general contractor.

Steel work will begin on the gymnasium next week and it is hoped to have bricklayers start work within two weeks. About 100 yards of concrete have been poured for the gymnasium footings.

When work on the gymnasium is well underway, concrete footings for the auditorium at the north end of the site will be poured. According to officials of the contracting company, work on the gymnasium will lead other units. The second unit will be the auditorium and the third the main section of the building.

Most of the excavation work has been completed by Koepke Bros. Construction company which has the contract for the excavation work.

Boards Association To Convene at Wausau

Governor Philip F. LaFollette will be one of the speakers at the annual convention of the Wisconsin County Boards Association at Wausau Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mike Mack, chairman of the county board, and John E. Hantschel, county clerk, are expected to represent the county at the state meeting.

The governor will address the convention at a banquet at Elks hall at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. Other convention speakers will include State Senator Roland E. Kamenberg, Wausau, Dr. Joseph E. Barber and S. A. Meisner, Marshfield.

County Board Assn. members include: Senator Frank Frazier, Route 2, Oakfield; Paul Reynolds of the Wisconsin Taxpayers alliance; George M. Keith, supervisor of pensions; and Thomas Davlin, chairman of the state highway commission.

Mercury Rises to 50 Degrees For High Mark in March

Weather during March was mild with a mean temperature of 23.3 degrees reported by A. C. Braun, cooperative weather observer at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company for the United States Department of Agriculture. The high mark during the month was 50 degrees above zero on March 7 with the low being four degrees on March 9.

The mercury was above the 40 degree mark 11 times during March with temperatures dropping below 10 degrees only twice. There were 11 clear days, 18 semi-clear and 2 cloudy days, according to Mr. Braun.

There was very little precipitation with records showing only .21 of an inch of rain and snow during the month. Temperatures rose above the 40 degree mark for each of the last four days.

March of 1936 was warmer with a mean temperature of 31.4 degrees. The high mark was set March 24 when the mercury rose to 60 degrees and the low mark was 1 degree above zero on the first of the month.

Warmer days in March of last year were March 22 when the temperature was 50 degrees, March 25 when a mark of 57 was reported, and March 29 when the mercury rose to 55 degrees. Precipitation during the month amounted to 1.27 inches with snow reported several times. There were four clear, eight semi-clear and nine cloudy days in March of 1936.

Make 159 Visits to Preschool and School Children

Miss Mary Orbison and Miss Lina Johnson, school nurses, spent 280 hours on duty in March and had supervision over 6,000 students. Hours on duty were spent in the following activities: field visits 94, in schools 154, educational work 27, and administrative work 5.

In field work, the nurses made 159 visits to preschool and school children and 11 visits to adults. Eight children and one adult were visited under the health supervision program. Other visits made include those for non-communicable diseases 65, communicable diseases 96, in behalf of patients 37, where patient was not ill 3, patient not seen 15.

Four meetings were attended by the nurses during March with six visits from organization work and four office interviews being held. Fifteen days were spent in teaching at the various schools. Nursing service was given at 19 schools with 6,000 pupils under supervision.

Other health work in March included school visits 209, health inspection 283, special inspections 582, pupils given first aid 22, pupils recommended for exclusion 8, apparently normal children 179. There were 106 students who had defects. The defects were: nutrition 25, posture 4, eyes 1, vision 7, hearing 1, teeth 47, gums 2, nasal passages 2, nervous system 2, deformities 1. Defects corrected last month include vision 3, teeth 12, throat 4.

Hantschel on Board of National Organization

John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, has been appointed to the board of directors of the National County Officers' association to serve until new officers are elected at the convention in Milwaukee May 18, 19 and 20.

The association includes county clerks, treasurers, sheriffs, clerk of courts, auditors, district attorneys, surveyors, coroners, registers of deeds, commissioners, judges, court officers, supervisors and highway commissioners. Hantschel's appointment as a director was made by George F. Breitbach, Milwaukee, county clerk, president of the national organization.

Gardner Dam Scout Camp Opens June 30

The Valley Council Boy Scout camp at Gardner dam will be open seven weeks from June 30 to Aug. 18, according to Walter G. Dixon, scout executive. Folders telling of highlights at camp have been prepared and will be mailed to scouts this week.

Registration cards may be obtained from all scoutmasters. Mr. Dixon urges scout troops to plan attendance at the camp for at least one week.

The various weeks at camp have been designated as Paul Bunyan week, pioneer week, rodeo week, Indian week, pioneer week, old timers week and jamboree week.

Wardens Find 31 Fish Traps on River Bottom

Conservation wardens, operating with two boats and using drag hooks, found 31 fish traps in the Wolf river above Shiocton, it was reported Thursday. The traps, most of them loaded with fish, were pulled up and destroyed, and the fish released.

Plan Training Course For Brillion Scouters

The first of a series of training course sessions for Brillion scouters will be held at St. Mary parish house, Wednesday evening, April 21, according to Walter G. Dixon, Valley Council scout executive. About 25 men are expected to attend the first session. The Rev. M. J. Krause is sponsor of the troop.

NEW FIRE CHIEF

Jefferson, Wis.—J. Park L. Waterbury, chief of the fire department for 14 years who resigned effective May 1, will be succeeded by John H. Zeh, assistant fire chief for many years.

Yachtsmen Will Hold Banquet at Oshkosh

The Fox River Power Boat association will elect officers at a banquet meeting at Legion hall, Oshkosh, April 29, Judge F. V. Heinemann, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced. Henry Michels, Fond du Lac, is commander of the valley organization.

850 Students Attend Senior Vaudeville

About 850 Appleton high school students and several parents attended the annual senior class vaudeville program yesterday at the school. Funds derived will be used to purchase pins and keys for members elected by the faculty to the national honorary society. Sixteen acts were staged on the program.

Madison Church to Be Sold at Auction Within 2 Months

Federal Judge Signs Order Declaring Treasury Insolvent

Madison—The Luther Memorial church, an imposing edifice on University avenue erected in 1923 at a reported cost of $500,000, will be sold under the auctioneer's hammer within two months.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone signed an order late yesterday declaring the church treasury insolvent. Reorganization proceedings under the federal bankruptcy act had been in progress two years.

Judge Stone said he would appoint a receiver in a few days and proceed with arrangements for a quick sale despite protests from Attorney Charles H. Williams of Oshkosh, who said he represented about half the bondholders.

Attorney Chauncey Blake of Madison, counsel for the church, asked appointment of a receiver late said the Northern synod of the United Lutheran church, which holds a second mortgage of $39,000 in non-interest bearing bonds, had offered to buy the building for $55,000.

Other Liabilities

Liabilities, in addition to the synod holdings, include $220,000 in first mortgage bonds, unsecured notes of $250,000 each held by four Milwaukee churches, and a $90,000 note held by the estate of a Madison man.

The first mortgage bonds, Williams said, are held in small amounts throughout the state. He said a Clintonville cemetery association invested $10,000, almost its entire assets.

Williams admitted the actual value of the property is undoubtedly less than the face value of the bonds but contended the sale price should be between $100,000 and $125,000, instead of $55,000.

Blake said the Northern synod would cancel its second mortgage and leave to other creditors its purchase price of $55,000, plus the $1,932 in cash now in the church's building fund.

"The market for church property is rather limited," Judge Stone said in reply to Williams' plea for more time in which to seek a prospective buyer.

Lyal Wing Gets 13-Year Term in Federal Prison

Federal Judge Adds Five Years to Sentence for Attempted Jail Break

Lyal T. Wing, 31, Shiocton, convicted of an attempted robbery of the Curtis post office, was sentenced by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone at Madison yesterday to 13 years in a federal penitentiary.

At the same time, Judge Stone gave Ora B. Macomber, 41, Wausau, 13 years for participation in the same crime.

Wing was convicted of forgery in municipal court here June 15, 1929 and was sentenced at that time to 1 to 10 years in the state penitentiary at Waupun. The late Judge Theodore Berg pronounced sentence.

Sentences were pronounced Thursday on Wing, Macomber and several others after Judge Stone elicited from four of them the details of two attempted jail breaks and lectured a father for his "unnatural attitude toward his sons."

Gilbert E. Blanchette, Eau Claire, convicted of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, was given three years in federal penitentiary.

Mrs. Gilbert E. Blanchette, 21, Eau Claire, charged with jail break conspiracy, was sentenced to a year and a day in a federal prison for women.

Gels Three Years

Vern Pennewell, 48, Beloit, charged with theft of goods in interstate shipment, three years in federal penitentiary.

Louis Pennewell, 18, for theft of goods in interstate shipment, was sentenced to reform school 18 months and then placed on probation.

Gilbert Pennewell, 20, charged with theft of goods in interstate shipment, was given 18 months in reform school.

Judge Stone suspended a six-month sentence in the case of Charles Prosser of Fair Play, Grant county, and placed him on probation. Prosser was charged with possession of an unregistered still.

The judge added five years to the terms imposed on Macomber and Wing for attempts to break from the Dane county jail.

Mrs. Blanchette, who said she was using her husband for divorce, testified she sent back-saw blades to Blanchette at the jail about two months ago on his promise that he, Macomber and Wing would each pay her $5. She said she was earning $8 a week in an Eau Claire home and needed the money. The night jailer interceded the blades.

Plot Frustrated

Macomber told the court that an earlier escape plot was frustrated when an architect found a rope he had fashioned from strips of mattresses in the attic of the jail building.

The judge disregarded a fearful plea made by Mrs. Pennewell in behalf of her husband and stepsons. He sternly rebuked Pennewell for the boy's thefts.

"I think you are an unnatural father," the judge said, "Even a wild beast will protect its young, but you've led those boys into a career of crime."

Offers Theory in Attempt to Solve Mysteries Obscuring Woodland Indian

Iowa City, Iowa—W. C. McKern, Milwaukee public Museum anthropologist, offered today a theory he believes may solve mysteries now obscuring the life of the Woodland Indian, the first man known to have lived in Wisconsin.

The Milwaukeean presented his principle to a joint meeting of the Society for American Archaeology and the central section of the American Anthropological association. He is a past president of the central section and editor of the Archaeological Society's journal.

A culture closely related and directly parent to the Woodland pattern originated in Asia, entered America by way of the Yukon and Mackenzie valleys and had a special development in a locale centering just south of Lake Superior, McKern believes.

His theory opposes the accepted principle that the Woodland pattern evolved from a common central origin of all American Indian pottery cultures. This common origin was somewhere in the south and spread northward, proponents say.

If accepted, McKern's theory would revolutionize the trend of anthropological research in the northern Mississippi region by inducing scientists to search in the northland for originals of the Woodland culture, instead of continuing their rather fruitless investigations in the south.

McKern said virtually nothing is known about the earliest Woodland Indian. When his culture disappeared from Wisconsin about 250 years ago, Woodland Indians were living a semi-nomadic life in small villages. They depended upon hunting for food and made good pottery, he said.

The scientist said a logical migratory route from Asia to the Great Lakes would be almost entirely through forests, the Woodland's natural habitat. He added that there are evidences of Woodland-like pottery and mounds along the route.

While admitting some of the data for his arguments were derived from inadequate material, McKern said evidence in support of his hypothesis was stronger than the evidence supporting the present theory.

The Milwaukeean termed central Canada and interior Alaska "long neglected and practically virgin fields" for research that may prove his contention. He said that if these regions were tapped, they might produce the answer to the question of what kind of a person was the early Woodland.

Federal Budget Has Bearing on Cost of Living

Uncertainty Helps Force Interest Rates Up, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The average person who thinks that an unbalanced budget in the federal government is a thing apart and, at best, of remote interest to him probably would be surprised to learn that electric light rates and other costs may be dependent upon whether the federal finances grow better or worse in the next few months.

Likewise, the cost of mortgage money, the cost of borrowing money for all purposes, business and individual, are today related to the general level of interest rates and interest rates, broadly speaking, are in the direct and indirect control of the federal government.

For all practical purposes, the recent break in bond market prices indicated that, for some time to come, the refinancing process by means of the so-called cheap money, which has been so plentiful for refunding of existing or maturing issues of bonds, will be at a standstill. The refinancing of the last eighteen months was fortunate for those companies which were able to do it. Now the refinancing bill will be done at higher interest rates or not at all.

In many parts of the United States, electric light and power companies have been able to effect substantial economies in their interest payments by paying off their security issues and borrowing new money at lower rates of interest. Where the government has been in competition or threatening competition with the electric light companies, as in the TVA area, refinancing has been more or less suspended anyway, but in other parts of the nation, where no direct threat of competition has been prevalent, the tendency has been to defiance and effect economies for the consumer.

May Be Joint Control
The situation in the south would not be alleviated even if interest rates stayed low. Some sort of joint plan whereby the RFC or some government agency arranges to guarantee the refinancing is about the only way that particular dilemma will be met, and it may be the way by which a compromise set-up of a government partnership with the utilities or joint government control of certain areas may be worked out. But apart from the effects on utility companies, there are other businesses which had looked forward to refinancing in the next year or so. Of the $50,000,000 of securities issued in 1936, about three-fourths was in the nature of refunding of existing debt. The saving in interest payments was, therefore, very substantial and aided producers in keeping prices down. The cost of the money borrowed is a material item in many a manufacturing enterprise.

Cheap money rates have, of course, been urged by the administration because its own borrowings have been so extensive. As money rates go up, the interest on the public debt rises and thus the expense side of the federal budget goes up, too.

Uncertainty Is Factor
What is causing the interest rate level to rise? Partly the demand for commercial loans, but very largely the uncertainty that prevails about the future of the federal budget. The president is well aware of the difficulties because he has sent out word to all departments to economize as much as possible. He has indicated that the deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, may be much greater than anticipated. This is because tax receipts are not what they were estimated to be. The gravity of the situation, however, is not alone the showing to be made on June 30, 1937, but in the clear indication that 1938 will show a substantial deficit, too, and that was the year in which the president really promised a balanced budget, except for debt retirement.

Mr. Roosevelt has been forgiven by his friends because his repeated promises of a balanced budget have not panned out, but his opponents have consistently declared that the rising level of expenses will never permit a balanced budget. Now, however, friends and opponents alike are faced with the fact that tax receipts are not coming in as expected and yet no substantial cuts in expenses have been made. The administration has been relying on a rising recovery curve to enable it to spend almost as much as before, but now it is apparent that expenses have to be cut because taxes have reached a danger point. Tax rates can go up, but they do not result in increasing revenues just because somebody writes the rates into higher figures. Business cannot absorb taxes as fast as the administration has been increasing them nor do consumers absorb goods which have taxes tacked on to the sales prices.

Real Wages Decline
Real wages are going down. This is but another way of saying that money wages, even though on the increase, cannot possibly buy the commodities and articles of living that were bought a year ago.

In the face of such conditions, the fiscal crisis of the government is slowly coming to a climax and definite action may be anticipated from the White House. This will take the form of drastic curtailments of expense which may produce a psychological effect for the time being that may keep interest rates from rising unduly.

But the cost of money is in Mr. Roosevelt's hands and the costs of thousands and one things are dependent on whether the budgetary trend is toward a meeting of income and expenses or toward the

3 Murderers are Sent to Electric Chair in Chicago

Cook County Carries Out First Test of Humanized Execution

Chicago—Three murderers of policemen died in the electric chair today in Cook county's first test of its "humanized" execution.

Hidden behind a panel back of the chair, their identities carefully concealed, four regular jail guards pulled four switches for each electrocution, but only one of them sent the electric current coursing through the bodies of the doomed men.

None of the guards knew which was the actual executioner of the three slayers, Joseph Schuster, 30; Frank "Doc" Whyte, 47, and Stanley Murawski, 37, all former convicts. Warden Frank Sain said each left the execution chamber with a clear conscience.

Disputing the contention of Dr. A. Brill, New York psychologist, that each guard would feel remorseful, Warden Sain said the men clearly showed they had not been under any strong tension during the executions and told him afterwards they felt no inkling of guilt.

This is the most humane thing we have ever done in connection with executions," the warden added, "and the practice should be put into effect in all prisons."

Mechanical improvements on the electric chair to speed final preparations also were designed to "humanize" the ordeal.

Schuster, who murdered Policeman Arthur Sullivan Jan. 14 when same happy-go-lucky way the budget has been handled in the last few years when deficits of unparalleled size have been piled up and the political administration here has seemingly feared to make the necessary economies.

Unless the expense slashes are made, the budget will become in the eyes of the financial world a hopeless affair and this will tend to force interest rates and prices generally upward in an inflationary cycle.

Local Contractor Submits Low Bid On Highway Job

John F. Bloomer Will Accept Work in Winnebago-Go for $173,907

John F. Bloomer, Appleton contractor, submitted a low bid of $173,907.73 for grading and draining 2,366 miles and concrete surfacing 3,436 miles of United States Highway 41 and State Highway 125 in Winnebago county. It was disclosed today by the Wisconsin Highway commission.

The commission opened bids on $2,000,000 of new highway and bridge construction projects in 18 counties. The unofficial low bids entered by contractors are unofficial, and subject to check by the highway department.

Joseph D. Bonness, Milwaukee, entered low bid of $299,433 for 10,674 miles of concrete surfacing and grading on Highway 41 in Outagamie county.

Frank L. Maione, Rhinelander, was low with his bid of $1,065 for Lawe street bridge maintenance at Kaukauna.

A bid of $225,557.05 submitted by Clarence Weiss, LaCrosse, was low for gravel surfacing 10,169 miles of Highway 45 in Shawano county.

McKenzie Brothers, Inc., Minneapolis, submitted low bid for 6,101 miles of paving on Highway 10 in Buffalo and Pepin counties. The bid was $184,167.75.

Hugo Reese, Oshkosh, entered low bid of $4,977 for Prairie du Sac bridge maintenance in Sauk and Columbia counties.

DEATHS

CHARLES DURDELL
Charles Durdell, 84, 739 W. Spencer street, died at 3 o'clock Thursday morning. He was born August 2, 1852, in Germany and came directly to Appleton in 1872 and had lived here since that time. He was a bricklayer for many years and was a member of the Masons and Bricklayer's union, No. 10, Appleton.

The lone survivor is a brother, William, Appleton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Wichmann funeral home with the Rev. D. E. Bosserman, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from this afternoon to the hour of services.

MRS. JOHN HIETPAS
Funeral services for Mrs. John Hietpas, 63, Little Chute, who died Wednesday morning at Appleton, will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. John's Catholic church, Little Chute, with the Rev. John Sprangers in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Survivors include the widower, four sons, five daughters, four brothers, six sisters and sixteen grandchildren.

WINDELS FUNERAL
Funeral services for Charles Windels, 78, 514 N. Superior street, who died Tuesday morning, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the residence with the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery. Bearers were Louis and Henry Ruwoldt, William Burgholz, Fred Miller, Paul Petersen and Joseph Merkle.

Complete Plans For Scout Camp
Start Work on New Buildings at Gardner Dam In June

Construction of buildings for Camp Willis H. Miner at the Boy Scout Gardner dam site will start in June, Valley Council camping committee decided last night. Seven buildings with all-year round facilities are planned. Employees of Wisconsin Michigan Power company will be in charge of the work. A committee composed of C. R. Seaborn, J. H. Dunham, William Wright and N. de C. Walker, all of Appleton, and Clarence Zachow, Chisholm, was appointed to inspect log cabins constructed near Ironwood, Mich. by the Michigan Park department. The committee will make a 2-day inspection, April 20 and May 1.

Scouters last night voted to contract Appleton organizations in regard to building a memorial power plant building at Gardner dam. A diesel engine has been donated by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company and has been installed at the camp. After a power plant building is completed, a power line will be installed to include all units on the site.

LUMBERMAN DIES

William Fountain, Sr., 68, above, died Wednesday night at his home at 820 W. Fifth street after a 3-months illness. He was a pioneer lumber dealer in Appleton and was president and treasurer of the J. Fountain Lumber company. He was born in Appleton March 2, 1869, and had lived here all his life. The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at the Schommer funeral home with services at 8:30 at St. Mary's church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Coal Firm Head Admits Frequent Law Violations

law-enforcement officers with criminal records. From Kentucky court records and from Sheriff Middleton himself the members of the LaFollette civil liberties committee also drew forth testimony that others of the county's scores of deputy sheriffs often had been charged with breaking the law.

Figuring in the evidence was the name of Slemph Middleton, brother of the sheriff. Records showed a criminal record once characterized him as a man of "violence and lawless habits."

The committee submitted records to the effect that 30 of Middleton's deputies had served sentences in Kentucky state prisons, and three had been convicted on federal charges.

Fourteen deputies now in active service in the county, LaFollette said, had served prison sentences.

In previous sessions the committee was told by union officials and organizers that terrorism and violence existed in the Harlan coal fields for years and that unions had never been successful in organization work there.

The thickest, ruddy-faced sheriff told the committee that a county grand jury had urged him in 1934 to discharge four of his cousins employed as deputies, all of whom were under "one or more indictments for felonies."

Middleton conceded some of these men were retained as deputies for many months after the report was made.

Chairman LaFollette introduced court records in an effort to show some among Middleton's relatives, deputies had been charged with crimes ranging from "wilful murder" to "stealing a ballot box" and "detaining a female."

Fine Hortonville Man On Fishing Law Charge
Louis Bauernfeind, Hortonville, pleaded guilty in municipal court Thursday afternoon of having speared game fish in his possession and was fined $50 and costs with an alternative of 90 days in jail.

A second charge of catching game fish by other means than angling or trolling was dropped. Bauernfeind was arrested by Conservation Warden George Whalen, Appleton.

Revise Registration Lists of City Voters
Registration lists of city voters are being revised by Carl Becker, city clerk, and cards will be mailed within the next week to all voters who have not cast ballots since 1935. Persons wishing to remain on the lists are urged by the city clerk to sign and return the cards as soon as possible. About 800 cards are expected to be sent out.

JUMPS ARTERIAL
Harold Smith, Appleton, pleaded guilty in municipal court Thursday afternoon of failure to stop for an arterial sign in the town of Freedom and was fined $5 and costs. On recommendation of the arresting officer, a county motorcycle patrolman, the fine was remitted on payment of costs.

Many Compromise Court Plans Fail To Win Approval

Senators Report Proposals Are Ignored at White House

Washington—(AP)—Informed senators said today that many of the proposals being publicly discussed as compromises for the Roosevelt court bill were submitted privately to the White House weeks ago and have been ignored.

Nevertheless, talk of compromise persisted as the senate judiciary committee neared the end of its long hearings on the court measure. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of the Washington diocese, was the opposition's leading witness today in what may prove to be the last session of the hearings. He was followed by former Senator Brookhart of Iowa, a supporter of the bill.

The committee will meet tomorrow in closed session to vote on a motion by Senator Hughes (D-Ind.) to close the testimony. Members said the motion probably would carry despite protests of opposition leaders that they have invited a number of additional witnesses.

Would End Hearings
Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said he would join with supporters of the bill to close the hearings. He has remained noncommittal on the bill.

Much of the discussion of compromise centered on a proposal by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), a pivotal member of the committee, for an unconditional increase of two justices on the supreme court.

Although senators on both sides of the court issue criticized the McCarran proposal, there was a strong belief within and outside the committee that eventually a compromise of this kind would be reached.

There still was no indication that President Roosevelt would be willing to accept less than the six new judges provided in his bill if members over 70 do not retire. Opposition leaders said, however, they were receiving indirect suggestions that the chief executive would like to talk to them.

Many Compromise Plans
Democrats in the senate were understood to have submitted many of the compromise proposals to Mr. Roosevelt in writing weeks ago. One of them would permit appointment of sufficient judges to keep the majority of the court at all times under 70 years of age. Another would fix the terms of justices by constitutional amendment.

Opposition leaders indicated they would oppose the McCarran amendment or any other compromise proposal. Similar opposition was voiced by Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.), who has insisted the committee should vote on the Roosevelt bill without modification.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), one of the principal foes of the measure, said in an address at Baltimore last night that the minimum wage and Wagner act decisions removed any contention that the supreme court was a bar to labor legislation.

Plaintiff Wins $1,000 Verdict in Auto Suit
A verdict of $1,015 for the plaintiff in a $2,500 damage suit brought by Harvey C. Narum, Milwaukee, against Roger Ashman, Appleton, and the Central Mutual Casualty company was returned by a municipal court jury Thursday.

The suit was based on an automobile accident on Wisconsin avenue here last November. Ashman filed a counter claim for $500.

The jury found no negligence on Narum's part, however, and awarded him $1,000 for pain, suffering and hospital expenses, and $15 for damage to his automobile.

Pleads Not Guilty of Fishing Law Violation
Ernest Spoehr, rural route, Shiocton, pleaded not guilty of violating game fish in his possession in excess of the daily bag limit when he appeared in municipal court this morning and was released on $500 bond pending trial April 26. He was arrested Thursday by Conservation Warden George Whalen, Appleton.

Rhinelander—(AP)—Andrew B. Wilson, 66, former manager of hotels at Marshfield and Abbotford, died at his home here yesterday.

Greenland Is Tilting, Says Arctic Explorer

Class of 24 Will Be Confirmed Sunday At Lutheran Church

Twenty-four persons will be confirmed at the morning service at 10:30 Sunday at First English Lutheran church. The pastor, the Rev. E. C. Reuter, will preach a sermon on "Life, Home and Church."

Confirmations include Paul Behrendt, Edwin Blackman, Jr., Junior Brockman, William DeLong, Robert Gauckler, Robert Klippstein, William Koerner, Wayne Koester, Sheldon Larsen, Leland McGuire, Merrill Meyer, Tom Potter, Jr., Carl Rehfeldt, Jr., Chester Reitz, Gordon Schroeder, Harlan Sieth, Johanna Baumler, Ethel Boese, Verna Heinzel, Shirley Heinrich, Betty Hodgden, Fern McGuire, Iley Meyer and Virginia Traut.

That Greenland is arid and gradually tilting toward the west was the statement of Lieutenant Commander Donald B. MacMillan, arctic and antarctic explorer with the Byrd and other expeditions, before the elementary geology class of Dr. David Delo, assistant professor of geology, at Stephenson Hall of Science on the Lawrence college campus yesterday.

"The island is tilting downward along its western side, and upward toward the east," he said. "The ice cap and glaciers follow it. To the east they are receding; to the west they are moving forward rapidly. Glaciers built a few years ago on dry land are now three-tenths covered by the sea all along the western shore; on the eastern shore the reverse is true. There the sea recedes from its former coast line."

One of the strangest functions of an arctic expedition in which Commander MacMillan had part was its search for flowers and botanical specimens within the arctic circle.

"We brought back from the trip that time 700 species of arctic flowers," he stated.

Entry into Greenland for the purpose of study or even travel is made extremely difficult by the Danish government. The government is protecting the Eskimos from the ravages of diseases known among Europeans. Even after gaining entrance, one can be ejected and one's ship and possessions confiscated if he lends or gives any article worn by an outsider to a native.

Appleton Yacht Club Plans Grand Opening

Appleton Yacht club members and their guests will attend the grand opening of the club quarters in the yacht club building on S. Pierce avenue Saturday, Dr. A. L. Koch, commodore, has announced. The club quarters have been entirely redecorated, Koch stated. Ed Luben is steward in charge and a booyah lunch is planned.

Probation Is Granted To Two Onedra Youths

Donald Heagle, 18, and Harley Heagle, 20, Onedra youths who pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon of larceny of domestic animals and two counts of petty larceny, were sentenced by Judge Thomas H. Ryan this morning to 1 to 3 years in the state reformatory at Green Bay on the first count and to six months in the county detention camp on each of the other two.

All three sentences were suspended however, and the two youths were placed on probation to the state board of control for 1 to 3 years. The boys were charged with theft of three calves, a pump and some oats.

11 Arraignments Wait In Federal Oil Cases
Madison—(AP)—The federal court arraignments docket in the government's oil conspiracy cases was cleared today of all but 11 of the 71 individual defendants named in indictments charging violations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Three defendants—Edward Seibert, president, and Allan Jackson, vice president, of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, both of Chicago, and Jacob France, Baltimore, Md., president of the Mid-Continent Oil company—pleaded innocent late yesterday.

They were represented at the brief hearing by Attorney H. H. Thomas of Madison. Judge Patrick T. Stoen ordered their bonds continued pending trial.

Sentence Deferred On Statutory Charge
Henry Glass, 41, 908 N. Richmond street, pleaded nolo contendere to charges of statutory rape and incest when he appeared in municipal court this morning, and was found guilty by the court. Sentence was deferred until the morning of May 1. A case in which Vernon Voigt, 18, 1225 W. 5th street, is accused of statutory rape was continued on request of defense counsel.

ANNOUNCE WAGE BOOST
Beatons, Wis.—Lead and zinc miners of the Vinegar Hill Zinc company have received their second wage increase in six months. The raise amounts to approximately 16 per cent.

Biologist Finds Plant That Devours Insects
Kingsville, Tex.—(AP)—Dr. J. C. Cross, head of the biology department at the Texas College of Arts and Industries, has found a bug-eating plant.

He identifies the plant as the dewberry, or sundew. It is very small, seldom having a leaf spread of more than two inches, and grows to a height of two or three inches. The leaves are covered with viscid feelers or sticklers that hold small insects until they are devoured. "Rare in any country," Dr. Cross says, "carnivorous plants are virtually unknown in North America."

Building Permits
Three building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspection department. The permits were granted to E. A. Arnold, 1714 N. Division street, residence and garage, $4,500; Theodore Utschig, 1556 W. Prospect avenue, residence and garage, $5,600; Milton Fulcer, 609 S. Douglas street, addition to house, $300.

The budget committee includes the Rev. G. H. Blum, George F. Werner, F. B. Whiting, John Trautmann and Homer L. Gebhardt.

County May Face Damage Action in Shiocton Mishap
Attorney Says Suits Will be Brought Unless Settlement Is Reached

Outagamie county may be named defendant in damage suits as a result of the death of seven persons in an accident at Shiocton March 14, John E. Hantschel, county clerk, has been notified.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nichols, Oshkosh, and their five children, died when Nichols' car ran off a bridge approach at Shiocton and plunged into the Wolf river.

A communication to the county board from an Oshkosh attorney, who states that he represents Lawrence Nichols, Oshkosh, and David and Cora McGlin, town of Bovina, heirs-at-law of the accident victims, points out that his clients contend the accident was due "to a defect in the roadway at the bridge approach, and due to a defect in the bridge, consequently making Outagamie county liable."

"If a settlement can not be reached in this matter, seven actions will be brought against Outagamie county in the names of the respective estates of the seven deceased persons," the letter stated.

The attorney suggested that the county board name a committee to study the matter. The board probably will act on the communication at its organization session next month.

Attorneys Back Divorce Measure
Claim Bill Would Prevent Collusion, Perjury, Quick Separations

Madison—(AP)—Legalizing divorce by mutual agreement, as proposed in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Charles A. Beggs (P), Rice Lake, would eliminate collusion, perjury and hasty separations, Attorney C. A. Taylor of Barron told the committee on public welfare yesterday.

"This bill does not give new grounds for divorce, but adds another method of obtaining a divorce in Wisconsin," said Taylor, who drafted the measure.

"Under its provisions divorces could be granted without airing all the dirty domestic linen," he said. "Collusion would be eliminated and the parties would not have to exaggerate petty differences into grounds for divorce."

Attorneys Ward Winton and Glenn Turner of Madison concurred in Taylor's statement that divorces would be increased in the state if the bill became law.

The bill provides that couples could obtain divorce two years after filing notice of intent to separate with the clerk of a court having jurisdiction, providing they did not live together in the interim and they had no unmarried child under 16 years of age.

Taylor said the law would not make Wisconsin another "Reno" because it would require two years residence of couple to qualify for the mutual agreement decree.

A Great New Power

The effect of the decisions handed down on Monday is to give Congress the power to regulate the relations between capital and labor in industries where a strike would cause wide-spread and substantial damage. This is much more power than Congress has thus far possessed. For it covers not only great national manufacturing organizations, like the steel companies, but small ones, like clothing factories, which buy and sell in a national market. If I read the opinions correctly, the court has said that Congress has power to regulate labor relations wherever it can be shown with reasonable proof that a strike would substantially disturb a national market.

This would seem to be a much more workable definition of the commerce clause than we have had before. It gets rid of the hair-splitting distinction between production and commerce, and recognizes, for the first time clearly, that buying, selling, manufacturing and moving goods are one inseparable operation. The test of what belongs to the states and what belongs to the national government is, therefore, whether this one operation is substantially performed in a local market or whether it is performed in a national market. If a strike would seriously disturb a national market, the national government has authority over labor relations. In the doubtful cases the court will now have to determine whether by this new standard the damage is in fact likely to be substantial and far-reaching.

Upholds View that Refusal To Deal is Cause of Strikes

In upholding the Wagner act the court accepted the view of Congress that a refusal to deal with independent unions causes strikes, and that strikes in these particular industries would disturb national markets. It follows, as a matter of course, that any strike for any cause, if it seriously disturbs a national market, is now within the authority of Congress.

For these decisions uphold the Wagner act by recognizing that Congress has the power to prevent strikes in national industries. Thus

Congress has the power not only to pass a resolution against the sit-down in the automobile industry, but to prohibit it by federal law. Congress has become the responsible guardian of industrial peace in all large industries, and under the terms of these decisions, it has only to convince the courts that the strike would be serious and wide in its effects. Henceforth the big industries and the big unions are within the federal power, and Congress may legislate for industrial peace between them.

Power Which is Invested in Federal Government Necessary

The power which has been vested in the federal government is necessary. But it is very great. It is a power which may be exercised not only by a Congress filled with the friends of labor but by any Congress. The power can be used not only to compel employers to deal with unions, but to compel unions to avoid strikes. It is as certain as anything can be that the power will eventually be used to enforce industrial peace.

This raises a very serious immediate problem for the leaders of labor, and they cannot face it too quickly. The power which has now been vested in Congress is so vast that it is capable of being greatly abused. In an industrial crisis during which public sentiment was demanding order, the new power of Congress would certainly be invoked to impair what labor has always regarded as its fundamental rights. For these decisions let it not be forgotten, do not merely validate the Wagner act which union labor happens to like. These decisions also validate the power of Congress to prevent strikes by measures which union labor may not like at all.

Final Protection of Labor Well Lie in Courts

When these measures come along, as they will, the final protection of labor against the abuse of this new power must lie in the courts. It will be labor, then, that will need the protection of due process and of the guarantees of liberty and of the prohibitions against arbitrary laws and the uncontrolled delegation of power and of all other checks and balances against the despotism of temporary Congressional majorities. For in gaining its new rights under the Wagner act, labor has come within the scope of an enormously enlarged Federal power which may quite readily be used to impair its old rights.

For that reason, on any long view, the deepest interests of labor now lie in preserving the essential constitutional balance of the government, and above all in preserving an independent judiciary. In the heat of the moment it may seem to Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green that they have more to gain by continuing the drive against the courts until it has lost all independence and authority and has been made impotent against the rule of this present Congressional majority. But this majority will not last forever, and when it is replaced by some other majority with labor no longer politically dominant, union leaders will curse the day when they were so shortsighted as to wreck the court.

Why Press On to Bitter End in Packing Efforts?

And so will those progressive who are shouting that they have the court on the run, and that they must press on to the bitter end till they have packed it and broken its spirit and destroyed its prestige. Do they really think that the cause of progressive democracy is to be advanced by having Mr. Farley push through the judiciary bill by compelling a reluctant Congress to override nearly half the membership of the Senate? Did any one who has the slightest regard for democratic principles ever dream of forcing through such a fundamental change in the character of the government by the votes of a mere handful of reluctant and subservient Senators?

It is not decent to do a thing like that. It is not decent to disregard the deep convictions of a very large part of the American people. I do not know, and nobody knows, whether on a count of heads the voters are for or against this bill. But I do know, and no one can deny it, that the opposition is very large and that it contains men and women who are excited to respect and that these men and women believe that this bill is an outrage upon the deepest principles of the Republic. In any free and civilized country that ought to be enough to make the legislative majority hold

Visiting Day May 7 For Eighth Grades

Pupils From Surrounding Schools Invited to Hortonville

Hortonville—Eighth grade visiting day has been set for Friday, May 7. All eighth graders in the territory have been invited to attend. A softball game will be played with Winneconne at Hortonville. The group also will be guests at the senior class play.

Glenn Roesler has been chosen queen by the president of the junior class, Albert Lamb. They will lead the grand march April 23. The junior class has sent out 500 invitations.

A committee of four—Lorna Nesbitt, Vernia Fulcer, Dick Sanborn, and Harold Tretin—has been selected to pick out some plays from which the senior class play will be selected by the vote of the class. A track meet has been arranged between Marion, Manawa and Hortonville to be held at Marion, April 24.

The high school softball team its hand till the people have had a chance to express their will.

But apparently such considerations are not to count. The scheme is to be pushed by the Presidential machine under Mr. Farley's leadership. The objects are to be allowed only to blow off steam into the vacant air. They are to be allowed only to appear at hearings and given the privilege of talking at Senators who do not listen and, if they listen, will not take trouble to debate the issue. Only men who are drunk with power would dream of treating such a body of opinion with such cynical contempt.

Ladies Aid Society to Meet at Greely Home

Leeman—The Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon, April 21, at the home of Mrs. S. F. Greely at Shiocton. Supper will be served.

Many local relatives and friends attended the funeral in Appleton, Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. John Newland who died in an auto accident in that city Sunday evening. Mr. Newland was a brother of Thomas Newland, and uncle of Mrs. Al Fancut and Leonard Theed of this place. The Newland family resided in this community for a number of years before moving to Appleton.

Frank Kable, Jr., left the first of the week for Green Bay, Irvin Nitzke for Appleton, and Merlin Beyer for Milwaukee. They will be employed in the various cities.

Mrs. Clifford Spaulding of Milwaukee spent a few days here visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beyer.

INDUSTRY VS. FARMER

The American farmer, as a subject of study, must rate well toward the top of the list. The country is farmer-conscious. The farmers' woes, consequences of drouths and floods, have been well publicized. The farmer is the subject of concern, spelled with the capital C. The farmer is an individualist. Most of the farmers we know are inclined to resent any too-intimate probing into their affairs. The farmer wants to be left alone. He wants to do his job and to make a living. He is human, and he complains when he thinks the cards are stacked against him. He defends his rights. He does not want to be included in any guinea pig classification. It appears, however, that the farmer cannot escape his destiny. He is, again, to be the subject of study. This time, the students will comprise the committee of the National Association of Manufacturers which plans a course of tours over the country, beginning in the Middle West in June.

The committee is actuated by the best of motives. Its chairman, Warren W. Shoemaker, vice president of Armour & Co., Chicago, says, "Our one aim is to learn all we can about the farm problem and transmit the facts to American industry as a means to developing a more sympathetic understanding between industry and labor. . . . We seek no preconceived results nor are we looking for proof to support any economic school of thought."

The committee will study farm tenancy, marginal farmers and marginal lands, the problems of agricultural financing, marketing of farm products, the farm as a place to live, and conservation of natural resources utilized for agricultural production.

It is a large program. One is inclined to believe that, if the committee's aims are explained fully and its methods are not too objectionable, it will meet with a large measure of success.

Certainly, some study on the part of industry is in order. Henry Ford in his experiments with the soy bean has in part, at least, borne out his contention that industry of the future must be more closely linked with the soil.

These representatives of industry, members of the committee, must overcome prejudices and suspicions. But they are on the right track and if they can convince the farmer of their sincerity, they will be doing a work that may prove to be of incalculable good.

WOMEN FOR NORSELAND

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman is to be diplomatic representative of the United States in Norway, as Ruth Bryan Owen was in Denmark. Thus for the second time we send a woman diplomat to Scandinavia. And, as some observers are remarking, there is a special fitness in that, for women's rights in the political sense were born in Scandinavia.

To do a complete job, it only remains now to send female ministers to Sweden and Finland.

Those little countries are rated by many Americans today as the finest exemplars of democracy in Europe. Some go farther and say that that little area on the North and Baltic seas is the most civilized spot in the world.

THE BELGIAN ELEPHANT

Leon Marie Joseph Ignace Degrelle boasts an imposing name. Until last Sunday he had been busily engaged in making an imposing place for himself as the leader of the Belgian fascist movement.

Sunday, however, brought disappointment when this party was spatted soundly by the voters of Belgium. M. Degrelle has had confidence in his destiny. He had placed a good many eggs in one basket in the Sunday by-election and the defeat he suffered at the polls may result in the collapse of the movement he has so carefully nurtured.

It is likely that no event occurring in Belgium since the German invasion of '14 has stirred greater interest in the United States. Last Sunday's by-election was a real test of fascist principles. The Belgians have had better opportunity than we to study fascism and its application at close range. They returned their verdict. That verdict interests us as foreshadowing the day when we may be called upon to return a decision on a like issue. The fascist principle, call it nazism if you will, finds support here. Its supporters boast that their numbers are increasing. The verdict returned by Belgian voters, living next door to a corporate state, may indicate to us that they fail to see the virtues in fascism that its supporters so loudly proclaim.

OUR SWEDISH FRIENDS

It was just 300 years ago that Peter Minuit, founder of the New Amsterdam colony on Manhattan Island, laid before Sweden's council of state with authority of Axel Oxenstierna, acting regent during the minority of Queen Christina, a plan for colonization in the New World. Before the year was out, the first Swedish colonists had sailed from Stockholm to found settlements along the Delaware. Their arrival was delayed by a stormy passage and it was not until March of the following year, 1638, that the first Swedish colonists landed on these shores.

The tercentenary celebration of the event already is being planned. In Stockholm, popular subscription lists have been opened and the Swedes plan a great memorial to be erected in Wilmington, probably on The Rocks where the first colonists landed. The Swedish press and radio are making the nation Delaware-conscious and the contributions of hundreds of thousands will finance the work of Sweden's leading sculptors and architects.

Knowledge of this Swedish effort is received with warm appreciation. There is hardly a community in the United States in which Swedes have not left their impress, where they do not represent the best in American citizenship.

To know that Sweden, from which their fathers sailed to found new homes in a strange land, feels so kindly toward a nation across the seas, is to strengthen our conviction that it is possible for nations and peoples to live in peace and amity.

When these proved ties are strengthened by our own friendships with our Swedish neighbors, we gain a new realization of the possibilities that exist when peace and good will are more than words. Every good American will appreciate the thing that is being done in Sweden.

HOW ABOUT INFLATION?

The Investors' Chronicle of London said recently: "The enlightened investor should not be bluffed by Washington and should keep his eye fixed on the rate at which purchasing power is increasing by continued Government spending and by the increases in wages now being granted. Unless the Government resorts to definite deflation, i.e. by budgeting for a real surplus and by contracting the existing supply of bank money, a real inflation of prices may be seen in 18 months' or two years' time."

The comment may be made that The Investors' Chronicle is looked upon with respect by British traders. Its observations concerning developments here have been found more often right than wrong.

The Administration has made it very clear that "booms" will be frowned on. So far it is the power of suggestion, apparently, that is being counted on most heavily to keep too-enthusiastic traders in line. Certainly, the Administration has greater powers, if it chooses to exercise them, than existed in the "boom times" of the Twenties.

The power of suggestion is turned on when prices jump. When the markets ease upward less criticism is heard.

It may be well to heed the suggestions of our British neighbors. They enjoy the advantages of perspective.

Opinions Of Others

THE RIGHT TO DIE

The defeat in the house of lords of the bill legalizing euthanasia was not unexpected and is not likely to stop the highly respectable movement of which the late Lord Morinham was the leader. The problem is a very difficult one, involving religious objections and considerations of public policy. Lord Morinham was the most distinguished surgeon in Great Britain and a philanthropist. The association created to further legislation numbers scientists, medical men, clergymen, and other men of note. It represents high character and intelligence and cannot be dismissed as an aggregation of cranks and irresponsibles. On the other hand, euthanasia is opposed by prominent clerics, physicians, and public men, and there is no doubt that public opinion is not yet ready for a decision one way or another.

The proponents of legalized euthanasia will continue to agitate and opponents will counter-attack. There will be much heat and eventually, we trust, more light. At the present stage there is much misunderstanding and the disposition of opponents to confuse or distort the controversy, already revealed, will not be corrected. Question-begging terms will be used to avoid fair argument and discredit the effort with the unthinking. Already it appears that many opponents, through want of thought or lack of scruple in argument, ignore the fact that no one proposes any action which is not freely willed by the individual involved. The question, skirted by these opponents, is whether an individual suffering from an incurable disease shall have the legal right to die.

Religious opponents urge that there is and can be no right to die. Secular opinion views with alarm the possibilities of abuse of convert murder. The problem is undeniably very difficult. Our own opinion is that in extreme cases of unbearable suffering a human being should not be denied the relief humanity affords to every lower animal.—New York Herald-Tribune.

PASSAGE of the anti-lynching in the house yesterday will not excite much worry in the north where there are comparatively few lynchings and where there is not the sharp color distinction and Jim Crowism (barring certain more localized exceptions) that exists in the south . . . but in the south, such, it is an entirely different matter . . . and if you don't think that trouble in Democratic ranks is afoot, you don't know your southerners . . . this is the first time in several years that southern Democratic traditions have been so thoroughly stirred up by Northern Democrats . . . true, the southerners have received a great assortment of political favors and a great quantity of federal funds since the accession of Franklin D. to the throne . . . (some of the tax paying northern states haven't caught on to how much yet, but they've been paying back the south's losses during the Reconstruction for some time) . . . funds notwithstanding, however, the question of color distinction, federal control and social equality are at stake and, such, that means something in the south . . .

YOU AT DAY'S END

You at the end of every day,
And I can bear the toil and stress,
For in the sun's dying ray,
I meet my happiness.

You at the end of the last long trail
That leads beyond the final star,
And all Death's awful threats will fail,
For Joy is where you are.

THE PROFESSOR'S PATENT MECHANICAL RABBIT

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

CHRONIC COMPLAINERS

In clinics, hospitals, outpatient departments and in private practice there are a good many patients who do not seem to have any particular disease but who complain of a bewildering array of symptoms and keep the doctors guessing—unless the doctors are alert to the newer developments in diagnosis.

The histories of these patients are difficult to elicit and to interpret and consequently many of them are put down as chronic complainers. The doctor seems to lose interest and the patient drifts along to another clinic or office.

These chronic complainers complain that for some time (there you go, some time, it may mean a month or eight years) there has been increasing generalized nervousness and irritability, proneness to become easily upset and excited, hard to get along with. They complain of vague aches and pains in various parts of the body, pains in the joints, along nerve trunks, in the calves of the legs. Many of them are annoyed by tingling sensations or spells of numbness in hand or fingers. All of them say they are always tired, easily fatigued, unable to work as well as they should because of weakness. Often they have tenderness in various parts of the body and they bruise easily or develop black and blue spots without apparent injury. They suffer frequent cramps, so-called "colds." They usually have tender gums and bad teeth. Among them constipation is universal, digestion is poor, appetite is fickle or nervous. Many of them notice more or less swelling about the feet and ankles.

These chronic complainers are not rarely put through the works, given all the routine and expensive tests of the machine medicine shop, and when all the reports are in and the main guy looks them over there is nothing to show what ails the patient. Just run down a good tonic, all that good old booby-well after all the premature post-mortem leading machine diagnosticians gave the "fad" of vitamin deficiency, it appears that the correction of vitamin deficiency is restoring to health and industry a large share of these chronic complainers. What they lack, due to their vitamin-poor diet, and what they need to correct their weaknesses and complaints seems to be a generous daily intake of vitamins B, C, D and G. While generous rations of these vitamins may be obtained in natural foods, it is difficult and in some circumstances too expensive to get such foods every day for months and months. But an adequate daily ration of vitamin C may be obtained in the form of tomato, fresh or canned, or tomato juice, or citrus fruits or their juices, and in the form of fresh greens and fresh vegetables. And one or two dozen irradiated yeast tablets daily will supply the necessary rations of vitamins B, G, and D.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Impacted Teeth

I am 37 years old and have two baby teeth. The dentist says the two permanent teeth are embedded in the gum above them. Are they likely to affect my health in any way? (E. D. T.)

Answer—Sometimes an impacted or unerupted tooth causes neuralgia or other irritation until it is surgically removed. Probably no trouble occurs in the great majority of cases.

Cryptorchidism
Son, 4; has one testicle. Is this a common condition among boys? What course should we follow? (J. T.)

Answer—Let your physician administer a course of hormone medication—injections of anterior pituitary-like hormone. This usually brings about descent of the gland and normal development.

Stagefright

Kindly give your instructions for preventing stagefright or nervous fear of an approaching examination. (E. G. M.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope giving your address and repeat your request.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"

If April 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:15 a. m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m. and from 6:45 to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a. m., from 10:15 to 5:45 p. m. and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m.

Let no disappointment spoil this day for you, for something is likely to more than compensate for it. Be careful of the friend that tries to tell you what to do for his or her advice might get you into hot water. Whatever you have to do this day do well, for slipshod methods are going to prove to be one of the day's greatest evils. There is danger of mix-ups occurring in individual ownership so be careful that through a mistake you do not take someone's umbrella, hat, book, gloves or coat. Many a tongue is due to wag too freely this day, and make many a bad slip, so think twice before saying anything. You ought to find the average person ready to co-operate with you in any matter requiring more than one person's effort. Married and engaged couples and those who have just come to a satisfactory understanding, will discover that a flat contradiction of any statement will arouse ire.

If a woman and April 17 is your birthday, you may exercise a remarkable influence over many people. You should have a fondness for literature, a decidedly romantic nature and some histrionic ability. The chances are you are quick at repartee and decidedly witty. You love to tease, but dislike a dose of your own medicine. It is very advisable that you make it a point to have some regularity as to meals, and the time of retiring. Any irregularity in either may have a bad reaction on your physical condition. As a specialty shop or tea room manager, educator, dietician, public stenographer, actress, interior decorator or journalist an unusual amount of success may be awaiting you. Your domestic life after marriage, ought to be a very delightful one.

The child born on April 17 will have to be taught the importance of prompt obedience and controlling its temper during the early years of adolescence. This child's future will probably reflect its early training.

If a man and April 17 is your natal day, by liberal policies, broadmindedness, and a willingness to serve others, you can make a big success of your life. As a political economist, clergyman, actor, author, lecturer or teacher you may prosper and attract a great amount of favorable attention.

CATCHES FIRE

McPherson, Kas. —(P)—Fire Chief Robert Lindgren never lets a good blaze leave town.

He received a call that a car trailer was going through the business district, the driver apparently unaware that smoke was pouring from his house on wheels.

Lindgren's truck started in pursuit, overtook the trailer three blocks from headquarters and the Chief extinguished a burning mattress.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—It takes 10 secretaries, a dozen secret service men and a navy crew to backstep the President in catching a fish but his continued good health undoubtedly justifies it.

His April trip to the gulf will carry him to New Orleans by train and by boat into shallow water some distance off shore where he will try for tarpon, a big man-sized fish whose capture means work for anybody.

He will be off shore for a week, out of contact with everything but essential business that can be radioed between ship and shore.

Constant Guard

He came back from Warm Springs rested and tanned but much driving around to this and that affair lost him the relaxation he expects from a week of fishing and loafing in the warm gulf sun. On trips of this nature he takes an operating White House staff including Marvin H. McIntyre, assistant secretary, two personal secretaries, four stenographers, military and navy aides, and his personal attendant. Most of these, including McIntyre, not a deep lover of the sea, establish headquarters ashore.

On the gulf trip headquarters will be set up first at New Orleans but will move westward to Galveston a few days later as the President's craft idles that way. The half dozen newsmen with the party will follow on shore, since the President wants no audience.

But the secret service will not be kept at arms length in any such manner. Whether the President goes, they go also. They will be on the Potomac, the President's yacht. They work in shifts, just as in Washington. At least one is on duty throughout the night, oftentimes in a small power boat in which he patrols the waters around the yacht while the President sleeps. His job is to herd off sight seers and others.

Fisherman's Delight

The Potomac, once called the Electra, was intended as a prohibition boat for the coast guard. It was completed in 1933 but never chased a rum runner as it was commandeered for the White House almost at once and remodeled along the lines of a yacht.

It is 165 feet long but its rum-chaser lines make it no man's dream for comfort. It was built of shallow draft so it could pursue runners into shallow water. But its 8-foot draft lets it roll and a less seaworthy President might find no relaxation in it at all.

It is ideal, however, for the sort of fishing Roosevelt plans. Some phases of this job of being President are not so bad.

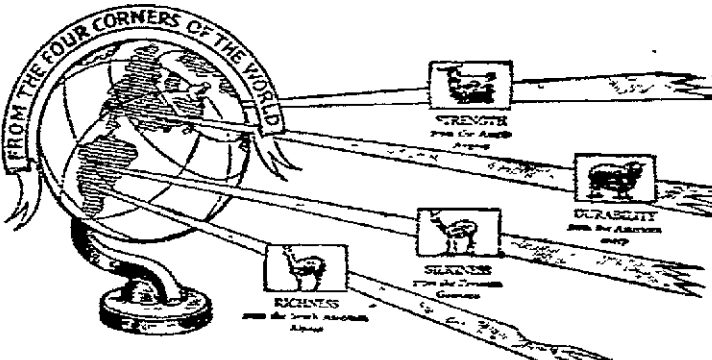

MAKE TUNNY SWIM INTO NETS

Tokyo. —(P)—Fortuna fishermen have turned a partially submerged volcano crater into a bait-hatchery, thus bringing the prized tunny swimming into their nets. The crater is inclosed on three sides. Over the fourth the fishermen have rigged a net. When sardines, the chief bait for tunny, have multiplied within the crater, the net is raised and out swim the sardines.

Tunny seem to get submarine signals and swim toward the freed sardines. The fishermen, drifting along with the school of bait, have only to scoop in their prey.

Liquid lime sulphur, mixed in a ratio of 123 ounces to a gallon of water, may be used as a dormant spray to prevent mildew and black spots on rose plants.

A scientific triumph

ALPACUNA TOPCOATS

The fleeces of four different animals from the four corners of the world have been scientifically blended—scientifically spun, carded, treated and woven. The result is a fabric richer than the richest of the fleeces—silkier than the silkies—stronger than the strongest. Alpacuna is a masterpiece of weaving art—a scientific marvel. And you'll agree it's certainly a supreme achievement in value.

Clintonville Wins Two First Places At West DePere

Beverly Winchester and
Boone Miller Victors
In Contests

Clintonville — Contestants from Clintonville High school won two first places in the sub-district speaking contests Wednesday at West DePere. Beverly Winchester ranked first in the humorous declamatory division and Boone Miller placed first in extemporaneous speaking. These two students will go to Oshkosh Tuesday, April 20, to take part in the district contest.

Others from the local high school who participated in the DePere contests were Donald Greb in the extemporaneous speaking division and Carmen Campbell in non-humorous declamatory. Victor Bartz, Miss Leola Knudson and Miss Doris Johnson were the teachers who accompanied the speakers and others who attended the contests were Mrs. Ward Winchester, Mrs. Arthur Campbell and Miss Junia Greb.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bucholtz, Jr., have returned from a three months motor trip through the western states and Mexico. While away they visited a number of former Clintonville residents. Among these were William Merrill at Houston, Texas; William Pollack at Douglas, Ariz.; Charles McConville at Yuma, Ariz.; Louis Bloch at San Francisco, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beedie at Berkeley, Calif.; Santa Barbara, Calif.; they visited Sister Justin, who was the former Mary Pollack daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollack of this city, and Sister Prisca, formerly Rose Zehren, daughter of Nick Zehren, of here. While in Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Bucholtz saw John Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lendved, all of this city, who spent the winter in the west. Mr. and Mrs. Bucholtz left Clintonville on Jan. 14 for their trip and left California for Wisconsin on Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Luchterhand will move soon to Green Bay, where the former has been employed for the last several weeks.

Sixty-four were present at a Sunday school teachers' and officers' convention held Tuesday evening at the Methodist church. A supper was served to the group by women of the local congregation, after which a program was held. Dr. Ira Schlagenhauf, Appleton district superintendent, was the principal speaker. Delegates were here from Shawano, New London, Manawa, Parfreyville and Waupaca. Similar meetings are held twice yearly, the next one to be held in the fall at Shawano.

The World Fellowship Council of Congregational churches will take place at Sheboygan on Tuesday, April 20. It is expected that several from the local church will attend.

The Leisure Hour club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Amos Schultz. Three tables of bridge were followed by a luncheon. Mrs. Arno Deser, Mrs. Frank McIntyre and Mrs. Charles Wendler received prizes for average scores at each table, and the travel prize went to Mrs. Henry Zuhse. Mrs. Edward Thies was hostess to a group of friends at her home Wednesday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were played, after which a supper was served. Honors were awarded to Mrs. John Ewer, Mrs. T. A. Patterson and Mrs. Henry Smith.

Lloyd Pinkowsky, scoutmaster of Troop 23, entertained scout leaders in the troop at dinner Wednesday

Manser and Smith Win Bridge Title

National League Teams Easily Defeat Americans in Play-Off

WINNING seven out of eight matches, the National league scored a decisive victory over the American in the play-off between the two leagues of the Appleton Contract Bridge association Thursday afternoon and evening at the Hotel Appleton. Play was conducted on a match point basis. Burton Manser and David Smith who finished first in the National league this season, were declared city champions after they amassed 91 1/2 match points in the play-off, while Mrs. H. A. De Baufier and Royall La Rose, holders of first place in the American league, scored 72 1/2.

Total match points for the National league were 714, to 630 for the American league. The only American league pair to win were Mrs. Julia Singler and Mrs. Clayton Holt, who had 9 1/2 match points to beat Mr. and Mrs. Don Morrisey, 5 1/2.

Stage Banquet
Play began at 4:30 in the afternoon and continued after the banquet at which prizes were awarded by D. P. Steinberg, treasurer of the association. Dr. George E. Massart, president, presided at the meeting, and John Neller was toastmaster.

Mrs. Royall La Rose and H. A. De Baufier of the National league were declared winners of second place teams with 89 match points as against 71 for Mrs. N. J. Wilmore and Mrs. Stanley Steidl, American league, second place. Winners of the two third place teams were Mark Catlin, Sr., and John Neller, National league, with 99 1/2 match points as against 90 1/2 for L. L. Doerflinger and Dr. E. N. Krueger, American league.

Fourth Place
Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Van Vonderen, Waupaca, National league, scored 105 match points to defeat the fourth place winners in the American league, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long, who had 80 match points. Will Roemer and Dr. George Massart, National league, fifth place, scored 74 match points to win over Mrs. John Balliet and Miss Ellen Balliet, American league, fifth place, who had 63 match points. Sixth place teams were Mrs. Julia Singler and Mrs. Clayton Holt, who scored the only American league victory with their 91 1/2 as against 82 for the Don Morriseys.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Steinberg, National league, won the championship for seventh place teams with 91 match points as against 85 for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zaig of New London, American league players. Eighth place teams were V. James Whelan and P. N. Belanger, National league, who won over Mrs. Henry Scheil and Mrs. D. J. Condrin, American league. The former scoring 82 match points and the latter 63.

A special prize was given to winners in the final night play, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Van Vonderen, high for north and south, and John Neller and Mark Catlin, high for east and west.

The Appleton Contract Bridge association will sponsor its sixth state-wide contract bridge tournament beginning at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the Conway hotel. Mrs. N. J. Wilmore is tournament secretary.

Chorus Rehearsing For Presentation Of 'Elijah' Sunday

Final rehearsals for Mendelssohn's popular oratorio, "Elijah," are being held this week by Dean Carl J. Waterman. The last rehearsal is scheduled for 7 o'clock this evening at the Lawrence College chapel. The chorus of 150 voices is being put through its paces by Dean Waterman in preparation for the Sunday evening performance which will take place at the chapel at 8 o'clock.

Soloists for the oratorio are Marion McCree, Chicago, soprano; Mary K. S. Peterson, Manitowish, contralto; Ted Linser, Racine, tenor; and Marshall Hubert, Appleton, baritone. Professor LaValin Maesch of the conservatory faculty will provide organ accompaniment for chorus and soloists and will play the overture to the oratorio, which depicts the great suffering and misery of the people of Israel crushed under the double calamity of drought and famine. Donald Gerlach is pianist for the occasion.

An offering will be taken to defray expenses of the presentation.

Reunion for Class of '27 Is Planned

MRS. H. J. Weller has been appointed general chairman of the reunion for the class of 1927 at Lawrence college to be held June 12, commencement weekend at Lawrence. Others on the committee are Mrs. Eugene Pierce, Harold Fuller and Palmer McConnell, the latter having been president of the class in his senior year. The committee met last evening in the office of Rexford Mitchell, alumni secretary, and decided to send cards to all members of the class informing them of reunion plans. These will include a dinner at the Hearststone tea room the evening of June 12 for members of the class and their husbands and wives, and attendance at the alumni picnic that noon. The committee will meet again at 7:15 next Wednesday night in Mr. Mitchell's office and any alumnus of 1927 is invited to attend.

Further plans for the annual reunion of Phi Mu sorority will be made at the meeting of Phi Mu alumnae at 8 o'clock Monday night at the home of Mrs. L. M. Howser, W. Spencer street. Mrs. Karel Richmond will be assistant hostess. Reunion will be held May 1 and 2 and will include a dinner at the Hearststone tea room May 1 with H. J. Weller in charge, and a luncheon the next day at Candle Glow tea room with Mrs. Ruth Kanouse as chairman. Mrs. Myra Hagen will be in charge of decorations and invitations.

Members of the active chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority will entertain at a tea for the alumnae from 3 to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Pan-Hellenic house. Two rooms in the house have been reserved for the affair.

Girls of Russell Sage dormitory will have their spring formal Saturday night at Castle hall. Miss Grace Cooley, Oshkosh, is general chairman, and she has been assisted in the making of arrangements by Miss Dorothy Stubbs, Chicago; Miss Alice Hansen, Eau Claire; Miss Ella-Mae Pierce, Aurora, Ill.; Miss Gay Peterson, Oak Park, Ill.; and Mrs. Howard Troyer and Dr. and Mrs. David Delo will be chaperons and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Barrows, Dr. and Mrs. John Millis and Miss Margarette Woodworth have been invited as guests.

WIN PRIZES AT CO-EDS COSTUME PARTY

Many Unusual Costumes are Seen at Senior Girls' Party

FIERCE-LOOKING cannibals with spears and shields, a Dutch boy and girl in wooden shoes, the quintuplets wearing white rompers and pink bonnets and the butcher, the baker and the candle-stick maker were only a few of the fantastic figures that dined and danced at the annual senior girls' costume party given Thursday night at Russell Sage hall by Miss Marguerite Woodworth, dean of women.

The hostess was attired as a Spanish senorita, with a manilla of black lace and a red rose behind her ear. Mrs. Thomas N. Barrows, wife of the president of the college, wore a light blue gown in the style of the Elizabethan period.

After the dinner, during which music was furnished by a five-piece orchestra, prizes were awarded to wearers of the prettiest, the most original and the most comical costumes.

Mrs. Barrows presented the awards for the prettiest costumes, Miss Gladys McCoskie, Fond du Lac, winning first prize, and Miss Dorothy Mitchell, Chicago, second. Both girls wore richly embroidered silk Chinese gowns, brought from the Orient by Miss McCoskie's father, who is an army officer.

Award Prizes
The prizes for the most original costumes were awarded by Mrs. George Banta, Jr., Menasha. The first went to Miss Belva Stratton, Waupaca, who appeared at the party as Esq.; the old gentleman made popular in Petty's drawings for Esquire. Second prize in originality had to be divided between six young women who came as a tribe of cannibals. All in black, even to the grease paint on their faces, and wearing something like mops on their heads to represent the darkies' tresses, the girls were the most exclaimed about guests at the party. They were Joyce Lochan, Milwaukee; Dolly Le Veit, Chicago; Sylvia Dubsky, Oak Park; Marion Griggs, Glen Ellyn, Ill.; Vivian Steger, Mayville, Wis.; and Phyllis Van Vulpem, Chicago.

Miss John Millis awarded the prizes for the most comical costumes, the first going to Miss Rosemary Dupont, Cloquet, Minn., for her impersonation of Donald Duck, and the second to Miss Marjorie Blumke, Oak Park, who came as a Raggedy Ann doll.

Among the other costumes worn were some representing April showers and May flowers, Topsy and Eva, Minnie Mouse, a gypsy, a Greek goddess and charming ladies of the last century with bustles and crinolines.

feature of the cooking school each year and other dishes will be described and their importance and place in the home menu discussed. Her work in past years has shown her the importance of economical marketing and cookery, of careful planning and deliberate buying not only of foods but in home furnishings as well. These subjects as well as new ideas in entertaining will be important parts of the daily programs next week.

A style show by Robin Hood dress shop and a fur show by G. L. Kriek Furs will be interspersed with music by Tom Temple and his 14-piece orchestra. There will be a complete new show each day. Shoes worn by the models will be from Hecker's Shoe company. By holding the sessions in the mornings this year, the cooking school management hopes to eliminate the necessity for disrupting home schedules and social engagements for the women who plan to attend the school. Doors will be open at 8:45 in the morning of each day of the school, and the program will begin promptly at 9 o'clock. The lecture-demonstration will be presented first, then the style show, fur show and musical program will take place and the final event of each day will be the awarding of the gifts.

In Milwaukee for the purpose of informing the committees in the matter of the union between the Evangelical and Reformed churches and of voting on the constitution which has been presented to the conference by districts of the Evangelical synod and by the classis of the Reformed church. The constitution will be passed on finally at the united conference next year. Mrs. Herman Bardenhagen represented the congregation of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church at the meeting at Milwaukee and the Rev. A. Guenther, pastor, attended also.

A Japanese luncheon will be held next Tuesday afternoon at First Methodist Episcopal church under the auspices of the Social Union circles captained by Mrs. O. R. Kloeten and Mrs. Emma Dutcher. Cherry blossoms will be used in decorating the dining room, and the committee will be dressed in Japanese costumes.

A program will be presented including readings and music in keeping with the Oriental theme of the party. Reservations are to be made by Monday with either captain or at the church office.

Name Honor Students at College Here

SEVEN Lawrence college coeds were named to Mortar board, national honorary society for senior women, and five men students were elected to Mace, local honorary fraternity for junior and senior men, in the convocation program this morning at Lawrence Memorial chapel. In the group of honored students is one from Appleton, Clifford Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Burton, 903 N. Morrison street, and Miss Helen Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bauer, Fremont.

Thomas N. Barrows, president of Lawrence college, was given honorary membership in Mace, and Miss Jeanette Jones, instructor in geology, was named to Mortar board. She has been faculty advisor of the group.

The new Mortar board members were presented to the student body by Miss Margaret Mercer, Evanston, president of the active chapters of the society. The girls are in addition to Miss Bauer, Miss Alice Holway, Glenview, Ill.; Miss June Mauland, Hubbard Woods, Ill.; Miss Marion Humlekier, Fond du Lac; Miss Margaret Hendrickson, Hinsdale, Ill.; Miss Grace Lightfoot, Cornell, Wis.; and Miss Grace Cooly, Oshkosh.

Outstanding Juniors
The five outstanding junior men honored by Mace in addition to Mr. Burton, are Donald MacDonald, Merrill; Perry Peterson, Rapid River, Mich.; Evan VandeWalle, Nichols, Wis.; and Robert Arthur, Geneva, Ill.

Mace is an honorary fraternity for junior and senior men, its purpose being four-fold—the possession of the strong healthy body, the encouragement of higher mental attainment, the development of an individual character, and a keen sense of social responsibility.

Mortar board, national honorary society for senior women, was founded in 1913 at Syracuse, N. Y., and elections to it are based on scholarship, leadership and service. Lawrence college was granted a chapter in 1925.

Miss Bauer is one of the society editors of the Lawrencean, a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and the Geneva club, and active in girls' sports. Miss Holway is member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, the executive committee and the Women's Athletic association board. Miss Mauland is also an Alpha Delta Pi and a member of the Ariel staff and the French club.

On Committee
Recently Miss Humlekier, a Kappa Alpha Theta, was elected a member of the executive committee. She is also on the W. A. A. board and active on the Student Forum's executive committee. Margaret Hendrickson is president of the Lawrence Women's association, has been active in dramatics and is a member of the French club and of Delta Gamma sorority.

Also a Delta Gamma is Miss Grace Cooly, next year's Ariel editor and a member of the French club. Miss Grace Lightfoot, a Kappa Delta, has been prominent in debate, and last year headed the circulation department of the Lawrencean. She is a member of the executive committee and the German club.

Clifford Burton is a star on the basketball, football and track teams. Perry Peterson has been business manager of the Lawrencean, student newspaper, and is at present a member of the editorial council. Evan VandeWalle is one of the outstanding track men at Lawrence, and Robert Arthur is president of the student body as well as a member of the football and swimming teams.

Played Tackle
Donald MacDonald has been a tackle on the varsity football team, and is the president of Beta Theta Pi. He recently installed national fraternity replacing Beta Sigma Phi. MacDonald was active in the work of petitioning the national fraternity for his local group.

Those whose elections were announced to Mortar Board this morning will be initiated Sunday morning at a traditional ceremonial meeting. A special luncheon for new members is being given at Orsby hall today. Mace initiates will be inducted at a later date.

Mrs. Crosby Boyd, Washington, D. C., arrived here Thursday for a short visit with her mother, Mrs. George Utz, 324 E. Washington street.

Clintonville Couple Is Honored on Golden Wedding

THE golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Rindt, 17 N. Twelfth street, Clintonville, was celebrated Thursday at St. Martin Lutheran church, with which they have been actively identified for the last 50 years. Dinner was served to several hundred guests in the church dining room by members of the Ladies Aid society. Those present for the occasion included relatives of the Rindt family and women of the Aid society and their husbands. At 8 o'clock a church service took place during which Mr. and Mrs. Rindt renewed their marriage vows. The Rev. W. O. Speckhard preached the sermon and the wedding march was played by Arthur Scheidt, church organist. Following the church service, the guests adjourned to the school auditorium where a program of musical numbers and a play entertained.

The marriage of Miss Augusta Gast and Gustave Rindt, both of Clintonville, took place April 15, 1887, in St. Martin Lutheran church, the Rev. H. Fuhrmann performing the ceremony. Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Rindt lived in and near Clintonville for a number of years while Mr. Rindt was Shown here with their host, Alfred C. Galpin, 726 E. College avenue, instructor in French at Lawrence college, seated at the left, are two young American authors who were here Wednesday and Thursday to consult with Mr. Galpin about the publication of a memorial volume of the works of the late Howard Phillips Lovecraft, American mystery story writer.

TWO AUTHORS ARE VISITING AT GALPIN HOME HERE

In the center above is August Derleth, Sauk City, Wis., author of several books, the latest being a Wisconsin historical novel, "Still is the Summer Night," and at the right is Don Wandrei of St. Paul and New York, who has written two volumes of poetry, "Ecstasy" and "Dark Odyssey." Mr. Rindt is a member of the Seventy Year club of St. Martin church and has held various church offices for 27 years. Mrs. Rindt belongs to the Ladies Aid society and to the Busy Twelve club of the church.

speaker will be Superintendent L. P. Goodrich of Fond du Lac, who will discuss "Pending Legislation in Wisconsin in the Field of Education." In the afternoon there will be a complimentary tea for all delegates at the Twentieth Century club, given by the hostess chapter. A program of dances will be presented at this event by the Junia Marie Arco dancing school.

Friday night's banquet will be at Hotel Rauff, and the delegates will be officially welcomed by President Forrest R. Polk of the Oshkosh State Teachers college. The guest speaker will be Prof. William H. Kiehlhofer of the economics department at the University of Wisconsin. He is nationally known for his work in economics and has written several books on that subject.

Saturday morning the group breakfast will be held at Hotel Athearn, different divisions of the association meeting to discuss their problems. The state business meeting will be held following the breakfasts, and Saturday noon Dr. Barbara Donner of the Oshkosh Teachers college, who recently returned from Europe, will discuss international relations.

Honorary Guests
Several women prominent in Wisconsin will be asked to be honorary guests, one of these being Miss Ellen Sabin, president emerita of Milwaukee-Dowder college.

Presiding at the meetings will be the state presidents, Mrs. Francis H. Wendt of Racine. Other officers include Mrs. Allan Abrams, Wausau, vice president; Miss Susan Hayden, Milwaukee, recording secretary; Mrs. William Chadwick, Racine, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. N. Tracy Yeomans, treasurer.

Large delegations are expected from Milwaukee, Madison, Fond du Lac, Appleton, Green Bay, Sheboygan and other cities of the vicinity, while most branches farther away plan to send their presidents and at least one or two delegates.

Pegler Sees Another Real Estate Boom in Florida

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Miami—Florida is about to suffer another real estate boom, thanks in part to the talk of inflation, so here, for your information, is the story of the man who was the greatest promoter and the most spectacular victim of the last one.

Between 1920 and 1925, George E. Merrick sold 150 million dollars worth of real estate in the development known as Coral Gables. A couple of years ago he was broke so flat that when he inherited a little patch of land down on the Keys he cleared it by hand, built a few shacks and ran a fishing camp for tourists. Barefoot and in canvas pants, he toted baggage for lack of a few dollars to hire a porter and did all the chores himself while his wife, who had given up her home and her jewels, did the cooking and cleaning.

Mr. Merrick is now back in action with a new real estate firm but he says it is his hope to keep things under control this time. He claims to be an idealist, not an exploiter, with a preference for the sort of settler who will take a stake in the community and settle down to work, produce and develop the state. The other kind come down merely for a good time and establish residence for no other reason but to dodge various taxes which are levied on big incomes and fortunes in their home communities.

Well, so much for that.

Mr. Merrick led off with a tract of 160 acres which his father bought for $1,000 in 1898 and reached out, acquiring more land at pyramiding prices, until it looked as though he was trying to start not merely a new town but a new country. He built a city of a thousand homes, a hospital, a city hall, a power plant, seven hotels and a street car line with 40 miles of track. He paved streets and laid sidewalks and mains and planted decorative light poles along miles of winding avenues and dug a canal, to provide a waterway for yachts from the sea to the inland Miami-Biltmore hotel. The hotel cost, with its two golf layouts, its swimming pool and all, a little over $7,000,000. He also built a stucco cloister known as Miami University to provide ready-made culture for his tailor-made town and this institution, after years of struggle, against many handicaps, including the derisive name of cardboard college, now has 1,200 students, most of them from elsewhere.

Pegler

Wall Street Involved in Merrick's Promotion

Many Americans will remember some of them with acute pain in the region where their bankrolls used to be, the amazing advertising and sales campaign of the Merrick promotion at Coral Gables. It was a big, complicated company by this time with Wall street involvements and Mr. Merrick's grasp of the show was very infirm. He hired old William Jennings Bryan for two years at $50,000 a year to ballyhoo the property to nibblers at public meetings held in the Venetian pool, a pretty civic swimming hole which 35 passengers each, to roll the prospects down the line free if the salesman certified them as live ones. Old Bryan found himself spelling his Florida lecture to about 200 new live ones every day at the Venetian pool but it can't be alleged that he did them dirt, because who knows but that he believed his own stuff? He was a money-lover, to be sure, and along toward the end of the boom Mr. Merrick had to lay the cash on the line before Mr. Bryan would chirp a single note of his tarnished silver tongue. But he could have believed what he said because, after all, most of it concerned the sunshine and the fertility of the soil which nobody can deny. Rex Beach got $200,000 for a small book about Merrick and Coral Gables and this too, was ballyhoo, but reading its painted pages today no man can disagree with his descriptive stuff or his facts.

Hires Hotel Promoter At $100,000 a Year

John Bowman, the hotel promoter, was signed on at $100,000 a year to run the Biltmore and became so inflamed with the promotion that he took chips in the game himself which were swept away in the crash. Coral Gables spent more than three million for advertising in about four years and they were powerful ads for they pulled business until land was changing hands on nominal options with so little money down that the thing became fantastic. Merrick was paying 30 per cent for money at the end and

Franklin 1st Graders Study Circus Project

With the advent of warm weather, pupils at the various grade schools have become circus-minded and many classes have built replicas of the big top and various side-shows. First grade pupils at Franklin school have completed a circus project which included the construction of animals, cages and other equipment.

Zebbras, wildcats, giraffes and lions have been made by the pupils and several of the beasts have been housed in small cages. Heavy paper was used in constructing the main tent and about 100 pennants were made. These have been strung from the top of the tent to the edge of the circus grounds. Pictures and stories of circus life have been completed by pupils.

Large Crew Employed On WPA Sewer Project

About 65 men are being employed on the construction of the Locust street sewer from College avenue to Lorain street. The work was started last year and resumed late in January and construction was stopped during the early part of the winter. Construction in the final block has been started by workmen, according to Ervin Klepenow, WPA field supervisor. The work is being done as a WPA project.

About 75 per cent of Iowa's 12,279 public schools are the one-room rural type.

Various Reasons For Early Spring Sales Showing

Babson Not Surprised
At 'Disappointing
Reports'

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Washington, D. C.—I am not surprised by the disappointing reports of spring retail trade recently turned in all over the country. Latest figures show unit sales only slightly above last year's level; while general business is running 20 per cent above the same period. There are various reasons for this unsatisfactory showing, such as cold weather, an early Easter, labor unrest, higher prices, and the heavy sales volume during February. As the season works along, however, the current lag in sales should bolster volume in May and June.

Retail trade is our most sensitive index of public sentiment. In the final analysis, public sentiment rules the volume of business. Viewed from this angle, the present stalling of American buying is not a good omen. Factories are running day and night. Warehouses are filling up with goods. Merchants have the biggest supply of stocks on hand in five years. All this is based on the theory that much higher prices and favorable trade are ahead. Actually, latest reports show department store sales only 5 to 10 per cent above last year; while mail order and chain store results are somewhat better. These figures are in accordance with my previous estimates; but it should be remembered that they represent dollar volume.

Explains System
I emphasize dollar sales because unit volume figures are not so good. Retail price-tags have been marked up sharply in the past few months. Certain lines have been advanced 15 to 20 per cent since the Fourth of July; while a fair average of all items shows a seven per cent gain. This mark-up has slowed the progress of retail buying to a considerable extent. Sharp jacking-up of prices means a corresponding slash in buying power of workers' pay envelopes. Twenty dollars per week can buy only as many goods today as $18.69 could buy six months ago. Hence, retail prices increase, due to wage or hour changes, are offsetting labor's gains through increased wages or shorter hours.

This slowing-down of retail trade, however, is probably only temporary because most of the factors which caused it are only momentary. There is one trend in the current retail picture, however, which I fear is not temporary. I am speaking of the rapid increase in installment selling. There are no figures available which give a grand total of installment credit outstanding; but there are several reliable barometers. For instance, the percentage of new cars bought "on time" in 1936 reached an all-time peak—65 per cent of the total. Another yard-stick is the percentage to total of "easy payment" sales in New England department stores;—the 1936 figure being 10 per cent and a new record.

By Libby

"Haven't you something less expensive? You see, we're married now."

Must Have Credit
I am making no sweeping accusation against installment-selling. If credit in one form or another did not exist, total purchases plus savings could, of course, be no larger than money income. You could spend no more than you received either for living items or investments. Through means of credit, however, you can spend more than you earn. You can buy a house, an automobile, or a suit of clothes without being immediately able to pay for them. At certain periods in the business cycle, an expansion in "time" sales gives business a healthy boost. At other times, however, such an expansion only helps to knock over the top-heavy credit pyramid.

Not only the time but the type of installment sales expansion is important. For example, the article which is bought on credit may be a machine. While the buyer cannot pay for it at the moment, the saving of labor in the use of the machine will be more than sufficient to pay for it over a period of time. An automatic-stoker is an illustration. However, when the article purchased is for immediate consumption, that is a "horse of another color." If credit is so easy that it is extended to cover consumer goods, then "time" sales are no longer sound merchandizing practice. Buying shirts, dresses, and even furniture—on "budget plans" is dangerous, particularly if the percentage of such purchases to the total is too high. Such credit is simply adding to present buying power at the expense of future income and employment.

Such an unfortunate trend is taking place today. Easy-payment plans are being steadily broadened. Originally, installment-buying was confined to articles which could be repossessed and resold if payments were not met. Today, however, personal services such as permanent waves and ocean cruises not only can be paid for in installments, but can be paid for after the service is performed. Moreover, length of payment periods has just about been doubled. Low interest rates, which mean cheap operating costs for the financing agency, are a major impetus behind this trend. Another is the government's promotion of home-renovation work and electric-appliance sales on its own guaranteed installment loans. A third factor is the entrance of commercial banks into the consumer-credit field.

Shop Now
In fairness I should point out that "easy-payment" plans are in many instances a vast improvement over certain previous methods. For instance, the 19-year installment mortgage on new homes is sounder real-estate financing than the old three-year mortgage whose renewal was uncertain. Also "easy payments" are more conservative in some instances than charge accounts—particularly those charge accounts which are habitually "slow." So long as our national income is swelling, the volume of installment total sales can rise along with it. However, if these sales continue to expand as rapidly as they have in the past year, installment credit may be one of the hanes of our next boom! The broadening both of volume and type of "time" sales is just another mile-post on the highway to inflation. Our Federal budget is making little progress toward balancing. Bank credit expansion is now underway; commercial loans are more than one billion dollars above a year ago. Financing for new capital last month was $100,000,000 above March of last year. Commodity prices have leaped to the highest level since 1929. Wage boosts throughout all industry are adding fuel to the flames. Prices this autumn should be substantially higher than a year ago. Protect yourself. Anticipate your autumn needs. Shop today; but increase your buying power by paying cash! Copyright, 1937, Publishers Financial Bureau

Little Change in Fruit, Vegetable Prices This Week

New Potato and Tomato Prices Continue High

Little change in the price of fruits and vegetables was reported this morning by local dealers. Potatoes and apples continue high in price with fresh onions, radishes, carrots and cabbage quoted at lower figures.

Cold weather continues to hamper strawberry shipments but the berries may be purchased in Appleton at 20 and 22 cents a pint. Last week most dealers were unable to obtain strawberries.

New potatoes are selling at about five cents a pound with old potatoes bringing at least 25 cents a peck. Yams are still scarce and average quotations are four pounds for 25 to 30 cents.

Tomatoes have taken up an upward spurt in price and now bring 18 or 19 cents a pound compared to the 15 cents a pound figure of last week. Head lettuce is selling at five to eight cents a head while asparagus is quoted at two bunches for 15 to 20 cents.

Fresh Vegetables Cheap
Radish prices are three or four bunches for 10 cents while three bunches of onions are selling at the same price. Cauliflower costs about 15 cents a head. Green beans are selling at two pounds for 33 to 36 cents.

Prices quoted on rutabagas hinge around the four cent a pound figure with spinach at about three pounds for a quarter. Four pounds of carrots cost 15 to 18 cents. Quotations on apples continue high with most varieties selling at a nickel or more a pound. Oranges can be purchased at 22 cents a dozen with more select types selling at prices ranging up to 50 cents a dozen. Lemons are being sold at 29 cents a dozen and up. Five small grapefruit cost a quarter with larger fruits bringing higher prices.

Maxie Baer Takes Walloping From British Fighter

All England Thrilled at Tommy Farr's Show-ing Last Night

BY GAYLE TALBOT
LONDON.—The British Isles were very excited today about Tommy Farr, the 23-year-old Welsh wallower who knocked all thoughts of a comeback out of Max Baer's head.

Farr "struck a blow for British boxing" before a swanky crowd of 14,000 at Hammersley arena last night by walloping playboy Maxie—who was perfectly fit, but as always, couldn't box a lick. The two-handed thrashing Baer he administered brought a thrill to the land of hope and glory that it hasn't experienced for many a day.

Late last night, as cabled offers from American promoters began arriving, every Welshman with good lungs still was singing "Land of My Fathers," and Englishmen were accusing perfect strangers to ask if they had heard the news.

By stepping in and slapping Baer out of shape to win a top-sided 12-round decision, young Farr climaxed a ring career that began when he gave up the idea of remaining a kitchen hand in his native Tonypandy, Wales. At the same time, if you take Baer's word for it, the curly-haired Californian is convinced he's all washed up in the punching business.

Won Heavy Title
Never before had Farr been known as anything but a plodder. England's own experts called him a "good second rate," even after he won the British heavyweight title from South African Ben Ford a couple of months ago.

Not only was Farr able to stay out of the way of Maxie's right—the same right that knocked out such high-raters as Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera—but he proved at the same time that he's a pretty fair country boxer.

The more Maxie snorted and tried to belt him out of the ring, the better Tommy fought back. It was Baer who had to break ground, particularly after Farr ripped open the American's right eyebrow with his left weapon, a slashing left hook in the first round.

Within a few minutes after the victory, he had an offer from fight promoter Joe Egan for $10,000 for a fight there with John Henry Lewis, the world's light-heavyweight champion. He doesn't want that, however. He is after a fight here in England with Max Schmeling.

All Baer asked was to go back to his ranch in California.

Training Camp Gossip
Brooklyn.—With Outfielder Joe Dimaggio under the surgeon's knife for a tonsillotomy, which may cure his sore arm, the Yanks started their annual spring series with the Brooklyn Dodgers today. Lefty Gomez, crack Yankee left hander, was Joe McCarthy's probable pitching choice against Van Mungo, top Dodger hurler.

Portsmouth, O.—Completing their spring exhibition schedule after a gloomy training season, the St. Louis Cardinals went into action today against the Portsmouth team of the middle Atlantic league. The Cards due tomorrow morning in St. Louis where the American league Browns field an intense workout today in preparation for games tomorrow and Sunday with the Cardinals.

Kansas City, Mo.—The Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff was strengthened by the addition of Joe Bowman, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics. Bowman, Bill Benswanger, announced that Earl Browne, hard hitting first baseman, had been traded for Bowman who, won nine and lost two last season.

Boston, Mass.—Minus Jimmy Fox and Lefty Grove, the Boston Red Sox went to Worcester today to meet Holy Cross in their first New England game of the season, a warm-up for the city series with the Bees, opening in Boston tomorrow. The team arrived last night, but both Grove and Fox dropped out at Philadelphia to consult specialists about their colds.

Charlotte, N. C.—The Cleveland Indians sent Tom Drake, promising young right hander, back to the New Orleans farm club today for further seasoning. Manager Steve O'Neill said Drake preferred that move rather than to go to Milwaukee of the association.

Charleston, W. Va.—General Manager Warren Gales said today the Cincinnati Reds may lose Jack Rothrock, outfielder, because Sam Byrd failed to report to the Rochester club. Rothrock was traded to the Reds last fall for Byrd in a straight player deal.

Golf Back on Sports Program at Marquette
Milwaukee.—(P)—Golf, after a lapse of six years, will return to the Marquette university intercollegiate sports program tomorrow when the Hilltop team meets Northwestern university here. Selection of a site was to be made late today after players had inspected various courses. Prof. George W. Knick of the business administration faculty is in charge of the Marquette team.

FARR WINS DECISION OVER MAX BAER

Tommy Farr, 23-year-old holder of the British Empire heavyweight boxing title, added to his prestige by pouncing out an easy 12-round decision over Madcap Maxie Baer, former world champion, before 14,000 persons in Hammersley arena, London. Farr went into the ring on the short end of 3-1 odds, and was outweighted by ten pounds. He is shown here in a fighting pose.

Here are a Few Bets on That Louis-Braddock Go

BY EDDIE BRIEFZ

NEW YORK.—(P)—Heavyweight situation: Mike Jacobs will bet you Braddock and Louis fight in Chicago in June no matter how Judge Guy Fike rules in Newark. Other circles (perhaps not so well informed) think the bout will be transferred to New York with Max Schmeling meeting the winner in the fall—and liking it. . . . The smart boys say Madison Square Garden isn't nearly so interested in clinching a Braddock-Schmeling go as it is in proving in court that a contract is a contract. . . . This done, the eighth even crowd, will be in position to do some trading—and get the best of it. . . . At any rate, June 22 is just about two months away and so far little has been done about promoting a Chicago fight. . . . So write your own ticket.

Intimates tell you the real reason Tony Canzoneri doesn't retire is that he is flat. . . . All his dough is tied up in that big ranch in Marlboro, N. Y. and he needs ready cash. . . . They say the best looking fighter in the A. A. U. tournament at Boston was Timmie Hill, Detroit Negro light heavyweight. . . . Charlie Gehring's mother, Mrs. Theresa Gehring, keeps his scrap book. . . . Barney Ross is so disgusted with the fight situation in general he may go to Australia or Puerto Rico to defend his welterweight title against Jack Carroll or Pedro Montanez. . . . Gene Tunney thinks Bib Nestell, Pacific coast heavyweight hope, is the goods and recently spent all of 20 minutes giving the youngster a few tips.

Add hall of fame: Colonel Jake Ruppert still calls Hank Greenberg, "Hank Goldberg." . . . Nixon C. Denton, sports editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, received a Baseball Writers' association card made out to "Nixon Denton of the Enquirer." . . . Is Henry P. Edwards' face red? . . . New Orleans fans are asking the Pelican management to inaugurate a "men's night" similar to "ladies day." . . . Ethan Allen, the outfielder, is writing a book on baseball. . . . It cost the owners of the Albany club of the New York-Penn league between $10,000 and $15,000 to put the Senators on the field this time.

Red Wings Take Hockey Crown

Become First U. S. Team to Win Stanley Cup Two Years in Row

Detroit, Mich.—The amazing Red Wings of Detroit entered hockey "hall of fame today—the only American team ever to win the National league championship and the Stanley Cup two successive years.

The club's secretary of big money, Barry, scored two goals and an assist, and the phenomenal reminding of Bookie Earl Robertson, who shut out the aggressive, dangerous New York Rangers for the second time, 0 to 0, stood out as Detroit wound up a successful five-game defense of the 44-year-old cup before 14,102 madly cheering spectators last night.

Barry defeated Syd Howe's long drive past Dave Keen, New York goalie, in the first period, passed to Johnny Sorelli for the second score in the second period, and before the final period was three minutes old outskated Babe Pratt to fire a tremendous 30-foot drive that ended New York's hopes.

Robertson, caught in a rain of pucks as the Rangers stormed into the attacking zone with five-man rushes in the last two periods, leaped, fell prone and swung his stick to clear all goals.

LEARNED BASEBALL ON CINDER PATH
University, Ala.—(P)—Heinie Laurie, 140-pound 5-footer, who holds down the shortstop post for the Game baseball team, never played baseball before enrolling at the university. Laurie hails from Cleveland. He was captain of his high school track team two years, and still holds a record for scoring the most points in one track season.

Stage Nine Boxing Bouts at Roosevelt

The third series of boxing bouts for Roosevelt Junior high school titles was staged Wednesday night at the school. Robert Bayley and Warren Williamson fought three rounds in a draw in the 125-pound class in the feature bout of the afternoon.

In other matches, Robert Coley defeated Robert Kutz in the 75-pound class; Eugene Clarke won over Joseph Marston in the 85-pound division; Milhaupt vanquished Macklin Mackay in the 105-pound class; John Marx won over Oliver Hanstaedt in the other 105-pound match.

Robert Dietzman outpointed Bruce Curry in a 116-pound class; Stewart Cooper defeated William Bielke in the other 116-pound match; Charles Kleifoth smashed out a win over Douglas Smith in a 135-pound match.

A. A. President Sees Close Race

Louisville Only Team That's Question Mark, Trautman Says

Columbus, O.—(P)—Six teams and some 35,000 fans were ready for the first "play ball" cry of the 1937 season in three American association baseball parks today. The two other teams will start play tomorrow.

With President George Trautman predicting a close race that at least four teams would fight it out until the last week of the season, Minneapolis opened at Kansas City, St. Paul at Milwaukee and Toledo at Louisville.

Combs will go to Indianapolis Saturday for the second game. "The league is much stronger than it was a year ago, with Louisville the only question mark," said Trautman. "Six clubs have added a quite bit of strength, and the pennant scrap is of a toss-up."

He said that since all eight clubs had working agreements with major league teams, "reinforcements" would be rushed in at any minute to any team.

Milwaukeeans Lead In Doubles Division

Milwaukee.—(P)—In the only major change among leaders of the state bowling tournament, the Milwaukee duo of Emil Shidell and Chet Rahn last night rolled into first place in the 350 doubles with 1,208.

They displaced the Milwaukee team of E. Schelbren and L. Nielsen. Shidell scored 671 and Rahn 547.

Tony Budney of Milwaukee assumed fifth position in the 175 singles with 606.

Change Date of A. A. U. Track Meet to July 2-3

New York.—(P)—A conflict in major track meet dates was averted last night when Secretary Dan Ferris of the A. A. U. announced the national A. A. U. track and field meet has been set for July 2 and 3 at Milwaukee instead of June 25 and 26 as originally scheduled.

The dual meet between the Pacific coast conference and Big Ten teams will be held June 25 and 26 at Los Angeles.

50 Swimmers Will Compete in Meet

Milwaukee Tournament to Determine A. A. U. Championships

Milwaukee.—(P)—More than 50 swimmers will compete here tomorrow in the second annual men's senior Wisconsin A. A. U. swimming championships at the Milwaukee athletic club. Qualifying heats will be held in the afternoon and the finals at night.

The Kenosha Youth Foundation, the Milwaukee Elks club and the Milwaukee Athletic club are the three team entries with the other swimmers competing unattached. Many former state high school record holders are entered, including Ted Niewerowski, Kenosha, who set the state high school 100 yard breast stroke record in 1935, and Lee Emmerich, Milwaukee, holder of the state high school 50 and 100 yard free style and 75 yard individual medley marks, and William Stange, Milwaukee, state high school back stroke champion in 1936.

Championships will be decided in the following events: 300 yard medley relay; 50 yard free style, 200 yard free style, low and high board diving, 100 yard free style, 150 yard back stroke, 200 yard breast stroke, 400 yard free style and 400 yard free style relay.

Henrich Offers Self to Majors

Player Taken From Milwaukee Expected to Sign Today

Massillon, O.—(P)—From an easy chair, Tommy Henrich coolly conducted an auction with anxious major league clubs today to determine which will bid the most for a young outfielder named Tommy Henrich. "The best offer wins," he remarked—and Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants has said he'd pay $20,000 for Henrich's contract.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis cut the contractual tape that bound Henrich to Milwaukee's American association club. He ruled that the Cleveland Indians were guilty of "covering up" Henrich, and that the 175-pound outfielder therefore should be declared a free agent. Under the Landis decree, however, Henrich could not sign a major league contract until today.

Henrich said he had no idea which club would bid highest.

369 Boys Entered in Roosevelt Tournneys

Class competition in badminton, tennis and ping pong has been started at Roosevelt Junior high school with 369 boys entered in seventh, eighth and ninth grade tournaments.

Entries in the seventh grade tournaments include badminton 60, ping pong 46, tennis 20.

There are 51 eighth graders registered for the badminton contest with 43 entered in the ping pong tournament and 40 in tennis. In ninth grade tournaments, entries include ping pong 50, badminton 56, tennis 33. Play will start Monday.

The indoor track meet for all boys is nearing completion with several students already finished. Events include the high jump, standing broad jump, push-up, potato race, hop step and jump, running hop, step and jump, basketball throw for distance, and baseball throw for accuracy.

THEY CALL AT THE WHITE HOUSE

John L. Lewis (left), president of the United Mine Workers, and Sen. Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania, are shown at the White House when they conferred with President Roosevelt on plans for putting into operation the Guffey-Vinson soft coal stabilization program. They refused to say whether other matters were discussed.

Tries Again to Bar Married Persons From State Jobs if Mates are Working

Madison.—(P)—Assemblymen Maurice Fitzsimons, the bachelor Democrat from Fond du Lac, fought his third biennial battle before the assembly welfare committee yesterday for a law to bar married persons who have spouses to support them.

The youthful Fitzsimons emphasized that in his desire to spread jobs, he was not picking on the married women, but the dozen or so women who appeared to oppose him—some married, some not—couldn't see it that way.

The setting, faces and all, was about the same as in the two previous sessions of the legislature, except that no unkind words of a personal nature were hurled at the author of the bill.

"This is not a married women's bill," Fitzsimons insisted. "It affects men and women alike and it contains exemptions to protect any person who really needs work. All I am trying to do is to eliminate dual employment so far as the public service is concerned.

"When we have a shortage of jobs the only thing that could produce opposition to this bill is greed. Let's give the jobs to our youths."

Calls Bill Unfair
Anna May Davis, FLP leader of Madison, told the committee the bill is basically unsound and unfair. She claimed that out of every ten persons affected nine would be women.

"This seems to me as though it will be worse for the men than the women," said Miss Anita Koenen of Milwaukee. "If you drive a man out of a job he still is required by law to support his wife, but a wife has no obligation to support her husband."

Miss Mildred De Vries, Madison, a petite blonde attorney recently graduated from law school, looked at the bill from a different angle. "Married women," she said, "are just beginning to appreciate what it means not to have to beg their husbands for money to buy a new dress and I don't see any reason why they should have to beg."

The women were not alone in opposing the bill. Others were Roy Kubisa, secretary of the Wisconsin State Employees' association; John J. Handley, secretary of the state federation of labor; O. H. Plenzke, Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin Education association; and Glenn P. Turner, Madison, Socialist, who recently ran for the supreme court.

Since Fitzsimons was the only proponent, the committee permitted him to refute the arguments of the opposition. Referring to a statement that the bill would reduce certain married couples below their customary living standards, the assemblyman said:

"Let these husbands take to sickle beers instead of more expensive mixed drinks."

New Councilmen Will Take Seats At Next Meeting

Committee Appointments And Official Posts Will Be Filled

Menasha—Committee appointments will be made and appointive officers will be named at the initial meeting of the new Menasha Common council Tuesday April 20, in city hall. The council will adjourn sine die and committees will be appointed when the new council convenes.

Aldermen elected in the city election April 6 will be seated at the meeting. New Aldermen are Charles J. Oberweiser, First ward; and Edward A. Zeimann, Second ward. Aldermen who were re-elected are Michael J. Grode, Third ward; Phillip Michalski, Fourth ward; and John Eckrich, Fifth ward.

Appointive officers to be filled by Mayor Walter E. Heid include: president of the council, city clerk, bookkeeper, city attorney, superintendent of streets, city engineer, three bridge tenders for Mill street bridge, health officer and two school commissioners, one from the First ward and one from the Third ward.

Present Officers
Holding the respective offices at present are: M. J. Grode, president of the council; Walter J. Dougherty, city clerk; Theodore Beach, Jr., bookkeeper; Edward W. Forkin, city attorney; Peter Kasel, superintendent of streets; A. E. McMahon, city engineer; and E. O. Haugh, health officer.

Included on the list of committee positions to be filled by the mayor are a chairman and two members for each of the following: finance, streets, bridges, ordinance and printing, police, fire, health, cemetery, public buildings and judiciary. The mayor, chairman of finance, and streets committees, city engineer and city attorney will comprise the board of public works.

Hold Practices For Net Squad
First Meet of Season Planned April 20 at Oshkosh.

Menasha—Tennis candidates for the Menasha High school net squad are being whipped into shape through practice sessions each afternoon at the Dory Tennis club in preparation for their first meet to be held Tuesday, April 20, at Oshkosh.

Orville Johansen, a member of the high school faculty, is the coach. Members of the squad are Joseph Kasel, Hubert Nelson, Chester Rembeck, John Jaworski, James Omachinski, Robert Stansky, Vernon Poniak, William Hecker, Fred Valley, Herbert Hartung, George Gosser, Henry Landskron, Karl Loeschner, William Machex and Frank Younger.

The team's first home match will be held on Saturday, April 24, against Shawano. Six matches have been scheduled for the team to date in addition to the conference and state meets to be held at Neenah May 6 and May 22 and 23 respectively.

Faculty to Select Menasha Honor Group
Menasha—Faculty members at Menasha High school will have the honor to select students for the National Honor Society. The organization will hold another meeting Monday evening at the school. Students are being judged on scholarship, leadership character and service. Members of the committee are W. J. Chapin, Miss Helen Corry, Miss Jean Fox, Miss Isabel Brice, Miss Signa Paulson, Mrs. Daisy Acker and Miss G. Geza.

Complete Material for High School Yearbook
Menasha—Copy for "The Pocket" Neenah High school yearbook, has been completed and will be forwarded to the printers in a few days. All pictures have been taken for the annual and the book will be distributed to students as soon as it is ready. It is being printed by William Martin, editor.

Seeks Prices on Trucks For Rural Fire Service
Neenah—Prices on fire trucks adaptable for service to rural areas are being sought by Harry S. Zerk, city clerk. Mr. Zerk has been appointed to investigate the possibility of providing fire protection to the townships of Neenah and Menasha.

1,500 Students Will Appear in Mass Exhibition

Neenah—About 1,500 public school students will participate in a mass physical education exhibition at the Neenah High school athletic field Friday afternoon, May 12, according to C. F. Hedges, superintendent of schools.

The mass drill will include many Memorial day features and will supplant the regular Memorial day observances in the various schools. Calisthenics and games will be the main events on the extensive program.

Pupils from the First through the Tenth grade are rehearsing daily for the demonstration. Those in charge of the exhibition are Ole Jorgensen, Florence Koepsel, Oberlein and Ione Lewis, physical education instructors.

Producing Grand Opera to be Next Step in Pictures

Movie Executive Says Public Determines Type Of Films Made

Neenah—A full length opera is the next forward step of the motion picture industry, Irwin E. Dees, associated with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., predicted during a talk at a meeting of the Neenah Rotary club at the Valley Inn yesterday. Mr. Dees said the opera would be an outgrowth of the current musical films.

"The public determines the kind of pictures are to be made in the future and continued support of good productions will improve the quality of films," the speaker said. "Motion pictures are produced for the general public and many are not suited to children because of their limited comprehension and experience. Though objectionable material is eliminated from pictures, parents should exercise their right to select what movies their children shall attend."

Peep Show
Mr. Dees said the "peep show" is the antecedent of the motion picture. He said the show cards on a rotating disc gave the illusion of motion. Most popular of these shows were a train robbery, a prize fight and a chorus girl climbing an apple tree. The underlying elements, crime, vigorous action and sex, are the principle components of our modern drama, the speaker declared.

Employing "Romeo and Juliet" as an example, Mr. Dees said the producers were making a determined effort toward authenticity in setting and costumes in order that the pictures will prove instructive as well as entertaining.

Neenah Couple to Leave in May for European Vacation

Neenah—Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Greenwood, 304 E. Wisconsin avenue, are busy these days preparing for a European tour which will begin May 4 when they board the liner Washington in New York. Dr. and Mrs. Greenwood will leave Neenah Sunday, April 25 and will make several stops en route to New York. They will visit relatives in England and Scotland and will attend the coronation festivities in Switzerland and other countries on the continent through which they will travel by motor car on their itinerary. Dr. Greenwood will attend some sessions of the Rotary International.

Another European traveler this month will be Mrs. E. J. Jandrey, East Wisconsin avenue, who plans to go to Naples, Italy with Mrs. Julia Rehn. Mrs. Jandrey will be guest of Mrs. Frederic C. Jandrey in America and will leave for New York Tuesday of next week.

City Assessor at Fond du Lac Meet

Neenah—John Blenker, city assessor, attended a district meeting for city assessors at the Fond du Lac county courthouse in Fond du Lac yesterday. State officials were included on the program and sessions were held throughout the day. About 138 attended.

Mr. Blenker will be in his office at the city hall from 8 to 9 o'clock in the morning and from 3 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon to allow Neenah residents to file personal property reports as of May 1. The reports must be filed by May 30, Mr. Blenker said.

Hear Objections to Installation of Main

Neenah—Objections to installation of a water main on Union street from Monroe street to Wisconsin avenue will be heard by the committee on public improvements when it meets at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the city hall prior to an adjourned council meeting at 7:30 in the council chamber.

The committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges will open bids on road oil for the summer street improvement program at the same time. Bids opened about a month ago were rejected. The council will adjourn sine die when it meets at 7:30 Tuesday evening and three new aldermen, Robert M. Martens, Richard J. O'Brien and John F. Kunschke, will be seated when the new council convenes.

GIRLS MAKE WAFFLES AT PARTY AT Y. W. C. A. CLUBHOUSE

off the iron. Alice Henning, on the extreme right in the picture, was also interested in the waffle iron but was willing to wait her turn. The girls are members of the A. V. club which held a waffle supper party at the Twin City Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening. The club is composed of industrial girls and is one of the organizations sponsored by the Y. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Seek $6,918 in Y. W. C. A. Campaign in Twin Cities

Neenah—"Twin City Young Women's Christian association needs $6,918 for its 1937-38 budget. The job is yours. I do not believe you need to be inspired nor do I believe you need a temporary stimulus. That you are here this evening shows that you are ready to dedicate your time, energy and ability to one purpose, the realization of the goal, because you know the importance of a continued Y. W. C. A."

Mrs. J. Gillingham told 108 campaign workers at the financial campaign workers' dinner at the Y last night as she sounded the keynote of the drive which opened this morning and will close Thursday evening. The first report of returns from the drive will be presented at a meeting of all workers Monday evening and the last report will be given Thursday at a dessert party.

Dedicated to Past
Miss Clara Bloom who was in charge of the devotional which concluded the meeting, said that as workers, the women were dedicated to the past, like those who sought a Promised Land, and that the promised land for the campaign workers was the continuance of the Y. W. C. A. in Neenah and Menasha which is only possible through the realization of the goal.

Campaign songs were sung during the dinner, Miss Geraldine Anderson, Girl Reserve secretary, accompanying the group at the piano. It was pointed out that subscribers' contributions are investments in a fellowship endeavoring to understand and help solve problems of girls and women in the local, national and world-wide community. The returns for the investment are measured in nobler character, greater self-respect, deeper understanding and broader friendships.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Frances Gilbert circle, Junior Kings' daughter, are planning to sponsor a card party April 24 at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Ethel Champagne is president of the club.

Girl Reserve rings standards will be discussed by members of the senior interclub council at 10:30 Saturday morning at the Y. W. C. A.

Prizes in the card games Tuesday afternoon and evening at the St. Margaret Mary bazaar were won by Mrs. Charles Enzel, Mrs. W. McHardin, Mrs. John Ryan, Mrs. Lila Hooper, Mrs. Edward Michalski, Mrs. Richard Marquardt and Margaret Mc Nutt.

Sophomores at Neenah High school will sponsor a dance at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, May 1, in the school gymnasium for all students. Committee chairmen will be appointed.

The Rev. Dr. E. Schlagenhauf, Ancloten, district superintendent, will be the principal speaker at a ladies night meeting of the First Methodist church Men's club at 6:30 Tuesday evening, April 20. William Marsh is president of the club.

Robert Smith 336 S. Park avenue was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party Wednesday evening in observance of Robert's seventh birthday anniversary. Prizes in games played went to Teente Lander, Dr. David Delein, Devonne and Garland Smith.

Miss Alma Hart, Winneconne avenue, and Miss Emma Kirchberg, Appleton, entertained at a coin shower at the home of the former Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Irene Payne whose marriage to Harvey Schuman will take place in May. Games were played during the evening.

Twenty-two Lady Eagles took the chartered bus to Manitowoc Thursday to attend the tenth birthday anniversary party of that auxiliary. More than 100 guests from Sheboygan and Neenah attended.

High honors in the card games played were won by the Neenah members. Mrs. Vivian Parsons took first prize in schafkopf and Mrs. Esther Rutherford first in bridge. A banquet was held at 6 o'clock after which drill teams put on work.

Plans for the Lady Eagles tenth birthday anniversary party April 22 which is to be preceded by a 6:30 dinner at which the husbands of members will be guests have been completed by the organization. A short business session will be held at which officers will be nominated. Cards will be played.

Mrs. Oscar Blank, Mrs. M. Jacobsen and Mrs. Sarah Hauke won

Waverlies Hit 3,026 Series in Recreation Loop

Gritzmacher Smashes 704 Series: Snyder Has 251 Game

Menasha—E. Gritzmacher thumped the tenpins for a 704 series on games of 249, 215 and 240 for top score in the Hendy Recreation Bowling League last night at the Hendy alleys. W. Snyder smashed a 251 single game for high game effort against the field. Gritzmacher smashed a 791 total early in the season.

Waverly Beach five topped the wood for a 3,026 series on games of 1,060, 850 and 1,016 to lead all teams in the league while the Rippl Grocers smashed a 1,079 single game for high team game score.

Members of four teams in the league are rolling in state and national tournaments, this week's round was not completed. League officials announced that competition in the loop would continue next Wednesday and Thursday to give all teams the same number of games rolled.

Other high team scores include: Gibson Chevs, 2,564; Rippl Grocers, 2,947; Clothes Shops, 2,939. High single team games follow: Rippl Grocers, 1,079; Waverly Beach, 1,060; Gibson Chevs, 1,053; Leopolds, 1,016; Adler Braus, 1,015; and Hopfensperger Meats, 1,005.

Additional high individual series were rolled by: J. Suess, 624; G. Funk, 636; H. Asmus, 621; N. Foley, 624; R. Kauffert, 623; W. Hockstack, 619; R. Shemanski, 615. High single games were bowled by: W. Gritzmacher, 249; L. Motel, 236; C. Landig, 239; J. Suess, 238; N. Foley, 239; R. Hela, 237; J. Nafolny, 230; G. Funk, 229; and W. Tuchscherer, 238.

The Leopolds toppled the pins for a 2,824 series on games of 933, 873 and 1,018 to win two games from the Hopfensperger Meats who had a 2,658 series on games of 876, 1,005 and 877. Suess's 624 total was high for the Leopold team and C. Vandenberg smashed a 593 to lead the Meats.

Three games were won by the Adler Braus who had a 2,676 total on games of 887, 976 and 1,013 against a 2,626 series on games of 816, 954 and 846 for the Hendy Recreation. F. Hyland cracked the pins for a 971 series to lead the Recreation and M. Pozalski had a 619 series to head the Braus.

Kenosha Editor Will Speak at Labor Institute

Annual Events Will Open Tonight at New London

New London—Paul Porter, Kenosha labor editor, will open New London's second annual labor institute with an address on "The 1937 automotive strikes and labor today" at 8 o'clock this evening at Labor hall in the Grand hotel building. An additional program of local talent and musical entertainment is planned.

Four labor organizations of New London are sponsoring the institute in collaboration with the University of Wisconsin's School for Workers in Industry. An effort has been made to induce New London business and professional men to attend the meetings as a civic community program.

Next Friday the second part of the program will be presented when John R. Barton, professor of rural sociology at the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, will speak on "Labor, the Farmer and the Cooperative."

The organizations cooperating in staging the institute are the Furniture Workers local 1652, Brewer Workers local 376, Federal Labor Union No. 16134 and American Federation of Musicians, local 300.

Train Schedules at

New London Changed

New London—A change in train schedules of the Green Bay and Western railway through New London became effective this week. The westbound train is due at New London at 8:38 each morning instead of 7:43 as formerly and the eastbound train arrives here at 2:30 in the afternoon instead of 2:43. Mail for these trains will be received until 8:10 a. m. and 1:45 p. m., respectively, in accordance with the new schedules.

Fire Destroys Barn and Silo

Hay, Rye and Farm Machinery are Lost in Blaze Near New London

New London—A small barn and silo were completely destroyed by fire at noon yesterday on the farm of Ryndard Schroeder, route 3, Vevauwega, about six miles southwest of New London on County Trunk N. About two tons of hay and some rye, a few chickens and several pieces of machinery burned with the barn. Five head of cattle and a team of horses were saved. The loss was unestimated.

The roof of the structure was ablaze when the fire was discovered and the building collapsed before aid arrived. Neighboring farmers hurried to the scene and the New London Fire department was called. Three men responded with one truck but the building was lost before they reached the fire. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Madison Man Takes

Over New London Job

New London—Herbert Gresenz, Madison, yesterday took over the management of the Wadham company. New London branch to relieve Joe Plain who will leave for Michigan tomorrow. Mr. Gresenz has been at Madison the last three years. His wife is expected to join him here later.

New London to Meet Neenah in 1st Track Contest

Schedule Triangular Meeting With Waupaca. Marathon April 30

New London—Inter-scholastic competition for New London High school tracksters will start with a meet at Neenah Saturday, April 4. It was announced by Coach D. N. Stacy yesterday after all but one date had been scheduled. The first home showing will be the annual triangular meet with Waupaca and Marion here April 30.

May 8 is still an open date. On May 15 the teams will enter the district meet at Green Bay. First three winners in each class will be eligible for the state meet at Madison May 29. New London will compete in class B. The conference meet is set for May 22 and probably will be at Neenah.

The boys have been working outside the past week and the number has dwindled to what probably will be the regular competitors. With poor track conditions and other conflicting school activities at this time progress has been slow. The individuals will be more carefully segregated according to aptitude next week and practice will begin in earnest, according to Coach Stacy.

Board Names Two New Road Chiefs

Gustav Schultz and Oscar Ott are District Superintendents

Forest Junction—Two new road district superintendents to serve during the ensuing year were appointed by the Brillion town board of supervisors at its initial session at the town hall here Wednesday. Gustav Schultz was appointed to succeed Albert Greve in District 7-18, and Oscar Ott succeeds Fred W. Zick in District 4-13. Edward Freitag, Harry Stanelle, Fred Kamke, Edward Geiger, Alfred Plate, John Holzhueter, Sam Krueger, John Steinmetz and Daniel Geiger were reappointed in the other districts.

Other appointments made by the board Wednesday include that of Dr. P. J. Wollersheim, Forest Junction, as health officer for two years, succeeding himself; Alfred Wittman and William Jahnke, sextons of the two town cemeteries; and Hilbert Radloff, town clerk, as highway and noxious weed commissioner.

The session Wednesday was held after Theodore Kersten, chairman, and Charles Schaefer, and William Prizl had renewed their oaths as a board of supervisors. Projects of road and bridge maintenance and other activities to be engaged in for the year will be determined at a subsequent meeting.

SERVE YOURSELF and PAY LESS

You know how impersonal most stores are — where busy machine-like clerks try to hurry you with remarks such as "Anything else?" "Will that be all?" This takes all the fun out of shopping and you are glad to finish and leave the store. At PIGGLY WIGGLY you serve yourself and pay less. You shop as slowly or as rapidly as you wish. No one attempts to hurry or rush you. Join the parade to PIGGLY WIGGLY and experience for yourself that pleasant, friendly, personal welcome which awaits you.

EVE'S ORCHARD
By MARGARET WIDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfield, housewife, said Eve matter-of-factly goes back to her two-century-old farmhouse and orchard in Connecticut after five years of work and play in New York. She misses gay, slim Henry who was to marry her in a few days if his new job hadn't collapsed. The last tenants left the house very dirty. But quiet, practical George Cleveland, a young fruit experimenter who owns the nearby Seymour house, and Uncle Henry, an old family friend, help Eve clean and move down the fine old antiques from the attic.

Chapter 12
GEORGE'S MOTHER CALLS
THE rest of the morning was a whirlwind of getting out her furniture from the long attic, carrying it down, placing it. Eve was black with dust and in spite of herself excited over rediscovered treasures. The telephone man and the electric light man incredibly came as promised. Adriano, below, could be heard clearing out the furnace and making a welcome fire with the "Jennings" remnant of coal. Eve was scarcely interrupted by them.

"Oh, Uncle Henry, the curvy window seats I used to play Madame Recamier in! . . . Oh, George, look at this. It's the lacquer cabinet I used to use for a doll's house. And my little table and chair for the kitchen."

"You said the lacquer cabinet used to be in the back parlor, didn't you?" George laid it on a piece of canvas and began dragging it to the attic door.

"Good memory George has," Uncle Henry said dryly, as man and cabinet disappeared down the stairs. "This weather's just right for budding and grafting and here he is indoors. You must have got quite a ways along in the city."

She laughed, lifting herself from the barrel which had proved to hold the Wedgewood china and not the coffee-pot she wanted. "I only met him one night and he disapproved of my wild ways."

"He's a fine young man," Uncle Henry said hopefully.

"Dear Uncle Henry, just wait till you see my real young man! He's better yet. He's coming out Saturday or Sunday."

"Agh!" said Uncle Henry. "Here's the kitchen tins - think you could manage us a bite? Nearly 12:30."

She clattered down with arms full of saucepans to find George in the kitchen gravely placing the child's chair and table.

"Odd," he said, straightening up, "that the house you played dolls in and the child's chair should have been the house next door all the time! Somehow I couldn't get the picture out of my mind. I think they must go just there."

"They do - are you a wizard?"

"Well, no; that's where they would go. . . . I don't know much about old furniture, but you have pretty good stuff, haven't you? My mother would be interested. I'll bring her over to call if I may next weekend."

"I'd love it. Yes, I think the furniture is good, though I don't know either; to tell you the truth, I'd forgotten. I'd always lived with it, you see. A lot of it is as old as the breaking eggs into a blue dish she had just washed. "I suppose should have sold it when I had it go to work, but I was only 18 and it was all packed before I got here. I was dazed. Aunt Lina was all had and she died so suddenly."

"You have nobody now?"

"No near relatives that I know about - no."

He looked at her for a moment longer, then went up for another load.

Uncle Henry's Story
Eve scrambled eggs and fried them and opened a can of peas and made coffee, wondering why she wasn't more tired. She found coffee-cake and another can with peaches, with the feeling of a diabolical cover, and called the men out stopping to think whether George wanted to go home or no. Even if George stayed to lunch, she remembered sordidly, it was cheaper than hiring movers. And he was really not very uppity once you knew him.

George, dusty and practical, was not upstage at all, sitting opposite her at his own bridge table, eating heartily of canned peas and tinned ham. Uncle Henry and he discussed procedures like old friends.

"Well, now, I am enjoying the day," said Uncle Henry, drinking his coffee happily. "There isn't a thing I can do at Emily's after I've tended by chickens, except to walk. And sure as I do I end up at the old farm, and that just makes me feel better."

"You were always a good cook," she remembered.

"Well, Mother being sick so much, I got to be handy. Guess Emily's right, though, she says now I'm between doctor bills and trying to look after house and farm both. Got so behind. But there it was, never had the money for a house-keeper, and up to the depresecor you couldn't get a farm hand. I love no money. He stared out the half-open door a moment. "Well, did the best I could, and no one can do more," he said in his dekind voice. "Been different if you, Henry'd come back. . . . Well, shouldn't begrudge him to his country."

The two younger people glanced at each other, with the faintest thought.

Sixty. His farm lost, his only asset wasted on a war, nothing to look back on but a lifetime of farm work and a fretful wife, nothing in the future but dependence on a non-too-pleasant niece. And yet, Uncle Henry, with his weathered face, his shrewd kind brain, his strong body, could say calmly, "I had done the best he could."

sentimental - no. It wasn't that; he was strong enough to say like a pro war enthusiast that he didn't begrudge young Henry to his count. He meant it. Uncle Henry was real as he was simple. Life a failure from every point of view, as he wasn't broken. It was creedsomewhat coming across somehow like that: like finding a temple, standing in a place where you had

Says Clubs Help Promote Respect For Game Laws

Conservation Groups are Aid to State Department

Kaukauna — Conservation clubs can count their accomplishments not only by the actual projects which they sponsor, but also in the respect for game laws which their very existence encourages. W. T. Calhoun, a member of the enforcement division of the state department of conservation, said in a talk in the Civic auditorium last night.

"We have 239 clubs with 40,000 members in the state," Calhoun said. "These organizations carry on various activities, but their primary function is the education of the people in the work of conservation."

Calhoun's appearance was under the sponsorship of the Kaukauna Conservation club. With his talk he presented motion pictures on four subjects, white-tail deer, pike propagation, scenes in Wisconsin and trout fishing.

Act As Deterrent

"The presence of good conservation clubs acts as a deterrent to game violators because in a community where people are aware of the value and need for such a program, such men get no sympathy," the speaker stated.

"While conservation is technically and legally a governmental function, little can be accomplished without the cooperation and assistance of the general public."

Calhoun cited the raising and liberating of pheasants by conservation clubs throughout the state as an example of the effectiveness of the conservation program. "Up to 1923, the state had done nothing to increase the propagation of these birds. Last year 46 counties were opened to pheasant hunting. This was only possible by the aid of sportsmen and 4-H clubs," he said.

Year's Program

This year the state will ship out 75,000 pheasant eggs, 30,000 day-old chicks, and about 40,000 half-grown and mature pheasants to the different clubs. Calhoun said. The grown birds will be released immediately in game preserves. The eggs will be placed in brooders until hatched and the young pheasants cared for until old enough to shift for themselves.

Before the high school students yesterday afternoon, Calhoun stated that Wisconsin was "primarily interested in the conservation of land and water, because without these we would have nothing, and secondarily interested in saving and increasing fish and game."

He described the state's fur industry to the students and exhibited a moving picture taken on the large experimental fur farm at Portage. The state is interested in bringing back the fur-bearing animals and maintaining its preeminence in this industry. Calhoun said there are 725 fur farms and 230 silver fox ranches in Wisconsin.

Twelve Girls are Received as Scouts At Investment Event

Kaukauna—Twelve girls were made members of the Girl Scouts in an investment ceremony held this week at the American Legion club-rooms. They are as follows: Betty Miller, Betty Klum, Mary Kuntz, Mary Perman, Jane Mulholland, Jean Heinen, Mary Jane Brandt, Frances Esler, Doris Esler, Mary Lou Haas, Rosemary Stegeman and Carol Leigh.

The following group of mothers of Girl Scouts attended the ceremony: Mrs. W. Paschen, Mrs. R. H. Nagel, Mrs. A. Leigh, Mrs. W. Klumb, Mrs. M. Kaufman, Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. J. Esler, Mrs. H. Haas, Mrs. H. Stegeman, Mrs. C. Brandt, and Mrs. G. Mulholland.

Following the investiture, games were played under the direction of the Trail Blazers' patrol and a candy sale was held by the Oriole patrol.

Organize New Scout Patrol at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—A new patrol composed of Tom Bauer, Bob Eiting, Boniface Pendergast, Mark Romano, Robert Steinhoff and Donald Yingling was formed at a meeting of troop 31 of Boy Scouts at the Holy Cross church hall this week. The patrol will meet next week at the home of Romano.

Two new scouts, Herbert Wheaton and Donald Yingling, were voted into the troop and Timm McCarty was named new Scout Patrol leader. The troop will take a bicycle trip Saturday morning.

Receive Letter From State on Road Project

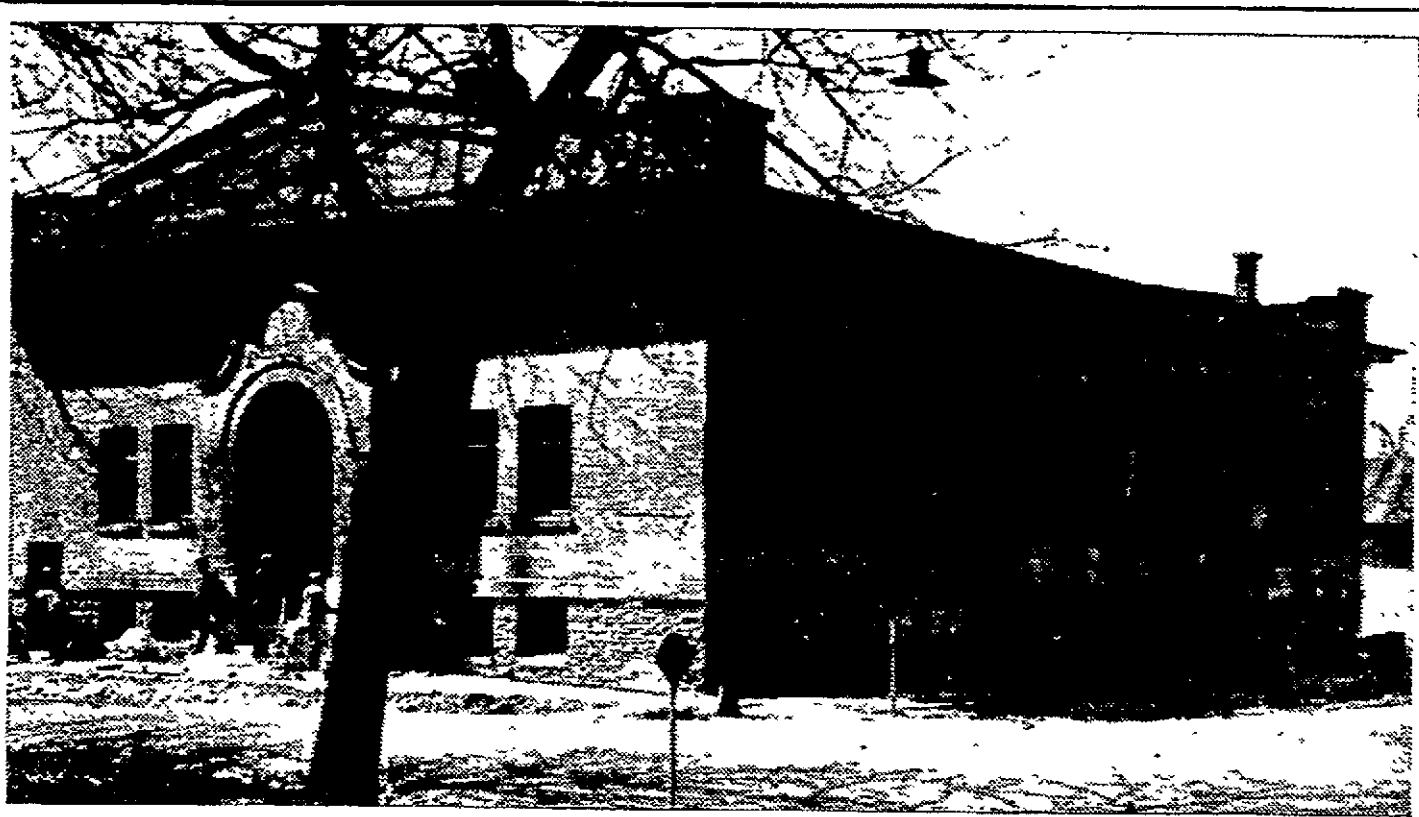

Kaukauna — A letter to Frank Charlesworth, city engineer, from the state highway commission pertaining to the paving of Maloney road from Draper street to the new Highway 41 was read at the council meeting this week.

The state will do the 200 yards of paving necessary, but the city must maintain the stretch of road. Highway officials pointed out in the letter that the "usual standard form of resolutions dealing with the grades, maintenance, and petition for construction must be passed by the city council preparatory to beginning work." The letter was referred to the board of public works.

Grignon Home Project Will be Discussed

Kaukauna—The restoration of the Grignon home and business methods of outside "racketeers" who sponsor advertising schemes in the city will be up for discussion at an important meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement association which opens with a 6:30 dinner tonight in Hotel Kaukauna.

The committee appointed to study the activity of outsiders in promoting advertising in the city will make its report. The association will

CELEBRATION MARKS OPENING OF BLACK CREEK COMMUNITY HALL

Black Creek residents have completed plans for the opening of the Community hall, pictured above. About $14,000 was spent in remodeling the building which was erected in 1913 and purchased last year by the village. A two-day celebration, starting at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, will feature the opening. The dance floor in the hall has been resanded and refinished and a new stage curtain and complete modern lighting fixtures have been installed. Programs by school children, an amateur contest, old-time and modern dances are on the program. A chicken dinner will be served Sunday noon, farmers and business men having cooperated in providing the meal.

Council to Make Recount Tonight

Will Review Ballots Cast in Second Ward Aldermanic Race

Kaukauna—At the request of Al Hartzheim, members of the city council tonight will conduct a recount of votes cast in the Second ward aldermanic contest in the city election in which he was defeated by Otto M. Ludtke, the incumbent, 249 to 241.

Mayor John Niesen served notice of the special meeting yesterday after Hartzheim's petition was filed with City Clerk Lester Brenzel. The council will convene at 7:30.

The petition reads as follows: "Al Hartzheim, herewith makes and files his petition for a recount of the ballots cast in the second ward in the city of Kaukauna for the position of alderman in the election held April 6 and in support of his position alleges and states:

"That your petitioner was a candidate for the office of alderman for the second ward of the city of Kaukauna, Wisconsin, in the election April 6, 1937.

"That your petitioner is informed and verily believes that a mistake has been committed in the counting and tabulating of the ballots cast for the office of alderman in the said Second ward for which your petitioner is a candidate and that your petitioner demands that there be a recount of the votes cast for said position."

Social Items

Kaukauna—Fifty tables were filled at the card party at St. Mary's church last night. The grand prize was won by John Jacobs and the special awards by Mrs. Antonio Ruetz and Paul Nagan. Other prize winners were as follows: sheep head, Mrs. George Brenzel, Clifford Kappel, bridge W. O. Kittell, 500, Mrs. William Baas.

A crowd of almost 200 people attended the covered dish supper, card party, and dance Wednesday night given by the Knights of Columbus Ladies for the men's organization. Prizes in cards were won by Arthur Godfrey, Dr. E. A. Mayer, Mrs. William Eiting and Mrs. Nick Esler in schafkopf; Mrs. Joseph Ditter, Mrs. W. O. Kittell, auction bridge; Mrs. Clifford Brandt, contract bridge; Mrs. Theodore Nytes, five hundred.
